$57 Million to Housing for Elderly Announced

Mayor White announced on June 30 a $57 million program for the construction of low-rent housing throughout the city, the bulk of it, housing for the elderly.

The program, developed by the Boston Housing Authority, will provide 2,093 units for the elderly and 201 units for low-income families. The housing will be financed exclusively by federal funds.

The 2,294 units, developed or pushed through final approvals under the new BHA Administrator Daniel J. Finn in the past eight months, is double the amount of low-rent housing built by the BHA in the past 10 years.

Mr. Finn was appointed administrator by a new tenant-oriented board of the BHA whose chairman, Julius Bernstein, was appointed by Mayor White in 1968.

Mayor White, flanked by Mr. Finn and Mr. Bernstein, made his announcement of the mammoth building program near a site at St. Peter's Church in Dorchester, where 96 units for the elderly will be constructed.

Mayor White said that other developments for the elderly will be built on St. Botolph street in Boston, Washington street in Dorchester, West street in Hyde Park, Rockland street in West Roxbury, Cummins Highway in Roslindale. All of these projects, totaling 869 units, have been completely approved and construction should begin this year.

More construction of units for the elderly is planned for Forest Hills in Jamaica Plain and on scattered sites in the South End and Charlestown.

Family units are planned for Dorchester, the South End, and in the Model Cities area.

"When I took office," Mayor White said, "I promised that low-rent housing would be a main priority of this administration. The announcement today is part of the fulfillment of that pledge.

"There is an urgent need for housing for large low-income families in Boston. The Boston Housing Authority has included several experiments in this development package to point the way for such construction.

"All of this construction will be financed by the federal government. It will be built under the auspices of the Boston Housing Authority, its new administrator Daniel Finn, who formerly headed the Office of Public Service in my administration, and its new chairman Julius Bernstein, whom I appointed in one of the early actions of this administration."

Mr. Finn pointed out that the average rate of construction of low-income housing by the BHA over the past decade has been less than 100 units a year, "despite the obvious and desperate need for low-income housing."

"The shortage of housing has affected thousands of our citizens," Mr. Finn said, "and it has affected the elderly most acutely."

He pointed out that 35 percent of the applicants for housing to the authority are elderly persons, but that there are now only 23 vacancies in elderly developments. The long wait for apartments has discouraged many elderly persons, eligible for public housing, from applying.

The average rent for an elderly household in federally aided public housing is about $50. It is slightly more in state-aided public housing.

Although the focus of the present development package has been on housing for the elderly, Mr. Finn noted, the authority is proceeding with plans to attack the desperate shortage of apartments for large low-income families.

Part of this development program, Mr. Finn said, is experimental to point the way for construction of family units in the future. He noted that the package included experiments in acquisition of existing structures, rehabilitation and modular construction of one-family homes integrated into existing neighborhoods.

"The commitment and the goals of the Boston Housing Authority are clear," Mr. Finn noted. "We intend to remedy the housing crisis in Boston and build units which enhance the appearance of the community, to improve communities as well as provide housing for those least able to compete in the private housing market."

BCH Appoints

Steven Portnoy

The appointment of Steven Portnoy to the newly created position of Assistant Deputy Commissioner-Area Administrator, Boston City Hospital, was announced recently by John S. Gracey, Director, Boston City Hospital.

Prior to beginning his new duties, Mr. Portnoy served as assistant to the director, Boston City Hospital, and has served as assistant in the legal affairs office of the Department of Health and Hospitals.

A graduate of Boston University and its law school (1970), Mr. Portnoy is a member of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Included among his many scholastic activities was founding the Collegiate Cauldron, Boston's first intercollegiate newspaper.

The youngest person to be appointed as an Assistant Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Portnoy, 25, did legal work at the Washington Headquarters of the U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and was a legal advisor for the Citizens' Aid Bureau of the Massachusetts Attorney General's Office.

Mr. Portnoy comes to his new post with a variety of experience in community work, having served as a consultant to the Community Relations Commission (Newton), and the Mayor's Office of Human Rights (Boston). He was an administrative consultant for the Washington, D. C., Free Drug Clinic.

The hospital's first area administrator, Mr. Portnoy will be administrator of a 300-bed component of the hospital. This position will decentralize hospital administration and bring top level management in close and continuous contact with all levels of the hospital.

Upon accepting this position Mr. Portnoy stated, "I see this new position as another important step in the department's continuing endeavor to make the administration an even more active and integral part of the hospital. The hospital must not end where the administration building begins."

Deputy Mayor Sullivan Cited

Deputy Mayor Edward T. Sullivan's assistance in bringing the Public Service Careers program to Boston alone, merits the commendation of all citizens. His efforts to make equality of employment a reality for all citizens have been reflected in his support of several other programs as well. These remarks were among those made by A. Reginald Eaves, Administrator, Mayor's Office of Human Rights, in presenting Deputy Mayor Sullivan with the third citation "for endeavour in Human Rights." The award reads: "His generous assistance and timely advice enabled the public service careers program to locate job opportunities within the city government for minority group workers. His efforts represent a hallmark of progress in providing equal employment for all, and constitute a major contribution to the cause of Human Rights in the city of Boston."

The Public Service Careers (PSC) program beginning in Boston this year will train substantial numbers of minority citizens to take entry and middle management level positions in city government. It will offer one of the first opportunities for minority people to train for an extended period for civil service examinations. The pilot program in the Housing Inspection Department ran for one year and was a complete success—all (10) those who began the program, completed it, passed the civil service program and are presently Housing Inspectors.

Another program which was developed by Mr. Sullivan and James O. Cole, Director, Manpower, Mayor's Office of Human Rights, will begin next autumn at Boston City Hospital involving part-time position for high school students interested in health careers in order to familiarize them with possibilities in health service.

Without Mr. Sullivan's help, advice, and support very few of these programs would be possible. The Mayor's Office of Human Rights proudly cites him for his invaluable assistance.

To All Department Heads.

The Mayor has directed that starting Monday, July 6, through Friday, September 4, 1970, department heads are authorized to declare a reduced working force in their departments beginning at 4.30 P.M. each day.

Two points are to be emphasized here, however. One is that departments will be open for the regular order of business from 4.30 P.M. to 5 P.M., and at all times there must be personnel available to staff the department competently.

Also, department heads are instructed to see that employees are present at 9 A.M. and do not leave the premises until either the 4.30 P.M. or 5 P.M. time to which they are assigned.

Director.

BCH Initiates Medical Exchange Program

A professional medical exchange program between the Department of Health, Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and the Boston Department of Health and Hospitals, will be implemented in the near future.

This program was announced on June 19 at a Health and Hospitals Trustees' reception for Governor Don Luis A. Ferre of Puerto Rico. Enthusiastic about the program, the Governor said that, "it would help increase the understanding between Puerto Rico and the United States."

Boston Business School

The rehabilitation of 989 Commonwealth Avenue which will become temporary quarters for the Boston Business School is scheduled to begin in August, according to Public Facilities Director, Robert T. Kenney.

The Commonwealth Avenue warehouse was recently purchased by Public Facilities as a new site for the school which will move from its 90-year-old 220 Warren Street, Roxbury, location.

The Brighton building will be remodeled to house 27 classrooms and administrative offices for 600 students. Ventilating, plumbing, heating and lighting systems will be installed and the interior floor space completely rehabilitated at an estimated cost of $600,000.

Mr. Kenney commented on the city's purchase of the building saying, "The department is saving the city's money by buying and renovating the existing building for the use of the school instead of renting commercial space of similar quality or building a new structure at this time." Public Facilities paid $350,000 for the two-story, 50-year-old brick building. Within a month of the sale, the twin building at 983 Commonwealth Avenue was sold for $370,000.

The Boston Business School is an open enrollment school which specializes in business related subjects such as typing shorthand, accounting, data processing and business law.

In May plans were finalized when Health and Hospitals representatives Director John Gracey, Trustee Reginald Eaves, and Assistant Deputy Commissioner Antonio Molino, met with officials from the Department of Health in Puerto Rico.

Medical students, house officers, and nurses from Puerto Rico will have an opportunity to study at Boston City Hospital for a minimum of three months, and professionals from Boston City in exchange will study at the University of Puerto Rico Medical Center.

The first program of its kind with Puerto Rico, BCH officials realized the need for better communications with the large Spanish-speaking community which it serves. Not only will this program improve relations between the medical staff and Spanish community, but it will result in better medical care for the Spanish speaking, and exchanges of ideas in medical practice.

Jobs for Disadvantaged

Mayor Kevin White signed a contract that will bring $441,277 in federal funds to Boston for a program that provides jobs for one hundred fifty-one disadvantaged.

The funding represents one of the first grants from the U. S. Department of Labor's newly created Public Service Careers (PSC) program. The program will recruit those who demonstrate potential but who lack the necessary training to pass the civil service exam, a prerequisite for public service positions.

"By both providing the disadvantaged with jobs that could lead to permanent careers and relieving the manpower shortage in public service agencies, this program effectively matches the needs of the citizens of Boston with the needs of the agencies that serve them," Mayor White said.

The city will operate the Public Service Careers program in cooperation with the State Civil Service Commission.

One hundred twenty-seven of the job openings are existing civil service positions. Twenty are positions designed to meet the particular goals. Four current city employees jobs will be upgraded to higher skilled jobs. The program is similar in design to the National Alliance for Business' JOBS '70 program whose planners aided the preparation of the PSC proposal.

Employees hired under this program must meet the six-month residency requirement prior to application. The program entitles the employees to the regular benefits of city employees.

Mayor's Youth Council Holds Meeting

Mayor Kevin White announced on July 1 formation of the Mayor's Youth Council which will serve as a liaison between young people and the city administration.

An organizational meeting of the Council, comprised of students from throughout the city was held in the Mayor's office on July 8, at 7 P.M. All persons aged 14 to 20 who would welcome an opportunity to participate in city government were urged to attend.

In announcing the formation of the Council, Mayor White said: "It is easy for those of us in public life to claim that we are interested in the ideas of our young people. But the Mayor's Youth Council we are creating will be an effective working body, with the power to communicate its ideas to every department in city government."

Thousands Visit Hub's Famous "Freedom Trail"

Thousands of visitors to date have enjoyed the delightful experience of seeing fifteen famous historic landmarks during their walking tour of Boston's famous Freedom Trail. It is one and one half miles long and generally takes about two and one half hours to complete the tour. A red stripe is set in the sidewalk along the trail as the guideline for a trip one will cherish and long remember. We commend it to visitors and natives alike.

The tour starts on Boston Common, the nation's oldest park, where once Indian scalps were displayed, criminals hanged, and "scolds and railers" placed on ducking stools near Frog Pond. The southwest corner of the Common holds the Common Burying Ground where Gilbert Stuart is buried along with British soldiers killed during the Revolution.

High above the Common, where settlers once kept watch "to foresee the approach of foreign dangers" is the gold-domed State House. Built on land acquired from John Hancock's heirs, the State House today houses colonial archives as well as the current government officialdom.

Listed next is the Park Street Church, where the abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison was one of many orators to give fiery speeches.

The Granary Burying Ground is adjacent and tourists are surprised to discover it nestling park-like in a valley of office buildings. The headstones are history. Benjamin Franklin's parents, Paul Revere, the victims of the Boston Massacre, John Hancock, and Mary Goose, known the world over as Mother Goose, are interred here.

Across Tremont street towards the Government Center, is King's Chapel, whose colonial congregation was colorful with the uniforms of British soldiers. General Washington came here Christmas night, 1789. The burial ground next door (in the 17th century the colony's only cemetery) is believed to contain the anonymous remains of the heroine of Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter.

The red strip leads along School street past a marker on the site of the country's first public school (1635). Its students included Cotton Mather, Benjamin Franklin (whose statue is nearby), and Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The restored Old Corner Book Store, now a newspaper office, on the corner of School and Washington streets, is today the fortunate survivor of recurrent attempts of demolition by developers. Anne Hutchinson preached here the dangerous religious theories that led to her banishment. From private home to publishing house to bookstore to pizza parlor, and newspaper office, the building today has regained its rustic charm and welcomes visitors every day except Sunday.

Next is the Old South Meeting House, where Franklin was baptized in 1706. Because the Meeting House was the site of radical gatherings in 1775, British soldiers gutted it and converted it to a riding school.

The Trail continues past Ben Franklin's birthplace to the Old State House. Today, encircled and dwarfed by office buildings, it looks down the street to Long Wharf and the sea. Its walls, at one time, displayed portraits of King George III and Queen Charlotte. Today it is a quaint museum, and the basement, to the astonishment of visitors, is a subway station.

Just outside the Old State House stones circle the site of the Boston Massacre. On March 5, 1770, redcoats killed five men in a jeering mob of colonists, thus spilling the first blood of the incipient Revolution.

The Freedom Trail wanders next into Boston's bustling market district to Faneuil Hall. Weekdays a produce market and weekends a flower market, this building is proverbially referred to as "The Cradle of Liberty" because it hosted so many rebellious Boston Town Meetings before the Revolution.

The brick walk leads under the expressway and into the North End of Boston, formerly the most elegant and prosperous neighborhood in the city.

In North square we find the diminutive home of Paul Revere. It was built in 1677 and was painstakingly restored and opened to visitors (admission 25 cents). The famous silversmith set out from his stable here for his historic ride to Lexington in April, 1775.

"Freedom Trail" . . .

The Freedom Trail comes to an end at the Old North Church, possibly the most famous church in America. It was here that the two lanterns were hung to signal Paul Revere of the advance of the British by sea to Concord. The church is authentically restored to its original Christopher Wren style. It has survived since 1723 and has continually served the religious needs of Boston's citizenry. The steeple has been destroyed twice by hurricane, most recently in 1955 when the pennies and nickels of the nation's school children were used to restore the historic landmark.

Senior Citizen Placement Service Successful

Boston Mayor Kevin White announced recently that the Senior Citizen Placement Service, a pilot program designed to find employment for senior citizens with area business and industry, has placed more than 200 people since the program's inception last April.

According to the Mayor the placement service is now seeking more people to fill the other 300 job openings which have been found to date. The program, which began operating April 16, was organized by the Mayor's Council on Aging in cooperation with Action for Boston Community Development, Inc. (ABCD), and the State Division of Employment Security (DES).

Charles Small, job developer from ABCD, has been visiting area businesses and industrial firms encouraging them to hire senior citizens. The positions made available through his work have been filed with the Little City Halls, Neighborhood Employment Centers (NEC), Little House in Dorchester, the YMHA Hecht House in Mattapan and the Boston Center for Older Americans in the Back Bay.

"Those companies who have hired senior citizens to date have been extremely pleased with the performance of these people and the jobs have enabled senior citizens to supplement their inadequate Social Security benefits through meaningful employment of their talents," Mayor White said.

Businesses involved in the program include hospitals (such as Peter Bent Brigham, Leahey Clinic, Massachusetts Red Cross Program), banks and insurance companies (Unity Trust Bank, Prudential and Liberty Mutual insurance companies), department stores (Jordan Marsh, Gilchrist's, Raymond's), colleges and universities in the area, hotels and many private industries.

The types of jobs that have been offered include secretarial work, skill training jobs (Red Hed Manufacturing Company), work as porters, salesclerks, dietary aides, and telephone solicitors (the Torch Company trains its people, many of whom are handicapped). There have also been job openings for housekeeper-companions and babysitters.

According to Charles Small placement hasn't been as high as it could be because often the senior citizen wants a job nearby, or there are no jobs offered which interest him, or a job doesn't offer the hours he wants.

The Mayor noted that senior citizens are employed at City Hall under the Senior Aide Program.

"These older Bostonians have rendered invaluable service to the city departments," the Mayor said.

"These citizens have proven beyond a doubt that merely because someone is over 60 does not mean that he is too old to contribute meaningfully to society, and the city will continue to do all that it can to further develop employment opportunities for its senior citizens."

MBTA Drawing

Dr. Robert C. Wood, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, on June 30, drew the first selection from a barrel containing the names of more than 1,800 applicants for the position of MBTA operator in the first such drawing in the history of the transportation authority.

The first name drawn was Charles W. Newton of 68 Aldrich road, Watertown.

The Authority's current list of applicants will be exhausted in the fall of this year and the names drawn will be placed on the new list in the order of their drawing if they otherwise qualify for the position.

This first-time random selection of applicants for employment with the MBTA is in line with the Authority's continuing efforts to eliminate any possible charge of bias in its employment practices. To further this goal, the Authority, June 29, filed with the U. S. Department of Transportation an application for a Research and Development Grant aimed at developing operator recruitment testing procedures totally free of racial or cultural bias.

This 30-month project, funded at approximately $350,000, and undertaken in conjunction with other transit companies in the country assisted by the University of Chicago's Industrial Relations Center, will analyze the attributes that make a good bus operator and prepare a type of test that will eliminate any unconscious bias in evaluating test results.

Campfire Directory Announced by UCS

Publication of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston's "Campfinder 1970-71" has been announced by the voluntary health and welfare planning council.

Compiled and published under direction of the USC Camp Council, the 60-page booklet is a directory of more than 200 resident, day and special service camps serving metropolitan area residents.

Purpose of the directory is to aid parents in choosing a camp best suited to their children's needs and preferences by providing basic information about each camp, including fees, length of session, size, location and the agency to which requests for additional information should be directed.

Listed are resident and day camps sponsored by nonprofit organizations; and camps, regardless of sponsorship, providing special services for children who are mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed and physically handicapped.

The booklet reminds parents that the choice of a camp is based on many factors — among them, the competency of staff, wholesome food, high standards of health and safety, and a program which is suited to a child's interests.

Commenting on the purpose of camping, the booklet stresses two factors that contribute most to a child's successful camp experience: "First, a camp philosophy that respects individual differences and believes individual campers and cabin groups should be encouraged to assume as much responsibility as they can for their daily lives and activities within the camp community; and, second, a staff which can carry out this philosophy and help children over the inevitable rough spots."

Day camping, it points out, is a service distinct from resident camping. "It permits children ongoing contact with their parents, friends and a familiar environment. The fact that children are not completely dependent upon their counselors or upon their acceptance by other group members makes day camping an appropriate choice for younger children and children who are emotionally disturbed, physically handicapped or from unstable homes."

Emphasizing that a camp's philosophy and program should be geared to a child's personality and interests, the "Campfinder" advises parents to get certain information directly from the camp staff, such as:

How large are the groups? (Eight to 10 children is considered best, depending on age.)

Is at least one counselor responsible for each group?

Will your child be under supervision at all times?

How close in age are the groups? (A 12-month age span is most comfortable for children because of similar social and physical capabilities and interests.)

What is the age and background of counselors and other staff?

What activities are available at camp, and which of these are traditionally emphasized?

Does the individual child, and do cabin groups, have a voice in determining what they will do?

What are the provisions in case of illness or accident?

"Involve the prospective camper in all aspects of planning for his stay at camp," the "Campfinder" advises parents. "Whether a child really wants to go to a resident camp, and for how long, is a hard question for him to answer — if he has never been away. Two to four weeks are advisable for a first-timer.

"Readiness for camp can be gauged partly by a child's age, his maturity and self-reliance in other areas, and his ability to get along and feel comfortable with children his own age. Talk over any doubts with your child and the camp director.

"Tell your child as much as possible about the camp he will attend and about camping in general. Where possible, he should visit the camp beforehand and meet some of the staff. Ask the director for the names of some of the children who know the camp and are planning to return. Your child can get firsthand information and perhaps make a friend."

On one final point to parents, the booklet urges: "Write him often when he's away. Don't expect too many letters in return. When a child is at camp, no news usually means good news."

Copies of the "Campfinder," priced at $1 each, may be obtained from the UCS Camp Council, 14 Somerset street, Boston, 02108. Checks should be made payable to United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston.

Mayor Urges Tenean Beach Reopening

Mayor Kevin White charged on July 20 that the State Department of Public Health has no intention of reopening Tenean Beach even though independent scientific testing conducted for the City of Boston showed that the bathing area poses no health hazards for swimmers except under extreme conditions.

In a letter to Dr. Alfred Frechette, Commissioner of the State Department of Public Health, the Mayor stated that tests clearly indicated that the beach area met the state's standards. The tests were conducted over a seven-day period beginning July 6 by Herbert V. Shuster, Inc., bacteriological testing laboratories.

The tests were authorized by Dr. Jonathan Fine, Director of Community Health Services for the city, using the same procedures as those employed by the state, the Mayor said.

The Mayor's letter was prompted by a statement of John C. Collins, Director of the State Division of Environmental Health, in which he said that new tests on Tenean Beach "may take two weeks or the rest of the summer."

"Two weeks would take us into the beginning of August and the greater part of the summer would be over," Mayor White said. "Furthermore, if the tests extend until the end of the summer, it is evident that Tenean Beach will not be opened at all this season."

"The people of Dorchester have been deprived access to this desperately needed recreation facility for too long already," the Mayor said. The Mayor offered to make the city's tests available to Dr.

Frechette so that the state could expedite the opening of the beach.

The Mayor said that the results of the tests already had been made available to Mr. Collins, but even in the light of admittedly acceptable results, Mr. Collins still has offered no realistic hope for opening Tenean Beach this summer.

He said the city's tests were ordered two weeks ago to evaluate the work done by the city and the Metropolitan District Commission in a joint effort to bring the swimming area up to state standards. The city's Public Works Department has been working to find and correct sources of pollution at the beach area and the MDC has been carrying out an extensive chlorination program.

The Mayor said that he felt daily chlorination by the MDC was essential to maintaining desirable swimming water.

He said that he was aware that occasionally following heavy rainfall, bacterial counts had exceeded the state standard. The Mayor asked that the Public Health Authority consider opening the beach except during the 24- or 48-hour period immediately following a heavy rainfall.

The Mayor said the city was continuing to test the water twice a week and that these results would also be available to Dr. Frechette.

Model City Recreation Program Started

VI. HIGH COMMENDATIONS

At 9.15 P.M., June 15, 1970, Engine Company 14 responded to a still alarm for a fire in the dwelling house at 2 Linwood square, Roxbury.

Upon arrival of Engine Company 14 at the scene, members of the company ran a 1½-inch attack line to the rear of the building and started a 2½-inch line to the front of the premises. Fire Lieutenant Robert A. Doyle of Engine Company 14 went to the rear of the building and was informed that Fire Fighter Richard P. Hickey of Engine Company 14 had entered the building to search for children reportedly trapped on the second floor. Lieutenant Doyle and another member of Engine Company 14 advanced the attack line through the basement and up the stairs to the first floor. Lieutenant Doyle then made his way up a stairway to the second floor and crawled on his hands and knees through rooms on this floor. He found a small child unconscious in a rear bedroom adjacent to the fire area. He carried the child down the front stairs to the street where the child was given oxygen and removed to the hospital. Oxygen was also administered to Lieutenant Doyle at the scene as he was partially overcome by smoke and heat. The rescue of the child was effected before the building had been adequately ventilated and without the benefit of an oxygen mask.

Inasmuch as Fire Lieutenant Doyle was subjected to intense heat, gas, and smoke while engaged in the search for the child, without thought of his own safety, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

Fire Fighter Richard P. Hickey of Engine Company 14 ran an attack line to the rear of the building at 2 Linwood square, and while waiting for water he was informed that children were trapped on the second floor. He handed the hose line to another member of Engine Company 14, went through the basement, up the stairs to the first floor front hallway, by a bedroom door through which fire and smoke were overlapping, and up the front stairs to a second floor bedroom in the front of the building. Not knowing where the children were, he searched the bedroom on his hands and knees and, upon hearing the whimpering of a dog, he made his way toward the sound and found a dog and a small child on a bed. He picked the child off of the bed, crawled along the floor through a small hall into the kitchen to the front hall and tumbled down the stairs to the first floor, carrying the child with him. He got to his feet and carried the child to the sidewalk where he collapsed. Fire Fighter Hickey and the child were given oxygen at the scene and were then removed to the hospital. Both the fire fighter and the child were held for treatment and remained in the hospital for three days.

The foregoing rescue work was performed under very dangerous conditions, as the building was heavily charged with heat, smoke, and fire, and adequate ventilation had not been effected.

Because Fire Fighter Richard P. Hickey performed the foregoing rescue with great difficulty, and without thought of his own safety, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

VII. COMMENDATION

Fire Fighter Robert Grenier of Ladder Company 26 is hereby commended for responding to and working at fire, Box 1765, on July 2, 1970, while he was off duty.

Finn of Ladder Company 20 are commended for their initiative and resourcefulness in the recovery of a dangerous explosive from the lagoon in Dorchester Bay near the site of the supervised display of fireworks on July 5, 1970. While detailed as fire watches at the display, one of the detonating fireworks did not ignite and fell into Dorchester Bay. This floating missile would have created a very serious hazard to the entire area. Fire Fighters Gambardello and Finn under very difficult conditions made a thorough search of the lagoon, exposing themselves to bodily injury. After a diligent search, the unexploded missile was recovered and disposed of properly, thereby alleviating a dangerous condition to all inhabitants of the area.

Mayor Reveals Long Island Reclamation Project

Mayor Kevin White announced, on July 24, a project to reclaim and restore 50 acres of Long Island in Boston Harbor for recreation and conservation use.

"The City of Boston's comprehensive program to reclaim the unique natural resources of Boston's harbor islands was announced on April 20," the Mayor said. "The necessary legislation is now before the Legislature, and we have initiated this action project to reclaim part of Long Island for recreation use this fall.

"The city is desperately short of space for new recreation facilities and the harbor islands hold a unique opportunity for residents of the city and the Boston area to enjoy the sea and the outdoors.

"People have talked about the harbor long enough. Now it is time to see something happen. This project on Long Island is one step for the future of recreation and conservation in the harbor and one that can be expanded in the future.

"Fifty youths from South Boston are working to clean up the old army base area," the Mayor continued. "When this part of the island is restored, it will provide a superb camping area for Boy Scouts and neighborhood youth groups.

Until now, the area has been littered with refuse and rubble from the former Fort Strong."

The 50-acre area is being readied for camping and other recreation through the combined efforts of: the Mayor's Office; Health and Hospitals, which owns the island; the Park Department; and the Boston Redevelopment Authority and high school boys from the South Boston Action Committee.

A Boy Scout "Camp-O-Ree" for 500 to 700 boys is being planned on the island in September and similar activities are expected in the future.

Trash and junk have been carted away. Plans for the remainder of the summer include leveling and clearing the rubble from former Army buildings and an extensive program to clean up the beaches. The many fire and other safety hazards will be removed. Camp sites and picnic areas will be prepared for use this summer.

The Mayor emphasized that the summer project is only part of the city's program for the harbor islands. The key to the future of the islands lies in the enactment of legislation the Mayor filed this year that would set up a state commission to acquire the privately owned islands and to prepare a plan for the recreation and conservation development of the entire harbor. Long Island is named in this legislation with Spectacle, Thompson and Deer Islands, as suitable for intensive recreation activities. Less intensive recreation and conservation uses are suggested for the remaining islands.

Golden Age Club Picnic

An afternoon of music, dancing, entertainment, and just plain fun is on tap for the Hub's senior citizens, Wednesday, August 12, at the annual Mayor's Golden Age Club picnic.

Mayor Kevin White and the Boston Parks and Recreation Department are sponsoring the senior citizens' afternoon on Castle Island, South Boston.

Free buses are available for all senior citizens and will leave fourteen locations throughout the city at 11 A.M., Wednesday, August 12.

Nursing homes, rest homes, and senior citizens' clubs and organizations with thirty or more interested persons may arrange for transportation by contacting Parks and Recreation senior coordinator Frank Kennedy at 722-4100, Ext. 155.

Free buses servicing the fourteen districts will leave from Little City Halls in Allston, Brighton, Charlestown, Dorchester, East Boston, Hyde Park, Jamaica Plain, Roslindale, South Boston, and West Roxbury.

They will also depart from the corner of Blue Hill avenue and Morton street, Mattapan; North End Union, 20 Parmenter street; and the Tobin Recreation Building in Roxbury.

Harold Vaughan of the Assessing Department placed fourth in the balloting but was ruled temporarily ineligible for membership on the Council because of a policy restricting the number of representatives from each department. The new members will join the existing committee composed of: John Flaherty, chairman, Public Works Department; Gertrude Daly, secretary, Health and Hospitals Department; Arthur Cadegan, Police Department; Joseph Galeota, Traffic and Parking Department; Michael Gilman, Law Department; Frank Guiney, Health and Hospitals Department; Frank McDonough, Administrative Services Department (Personnel); Harold Sacks, Retirement Board; Edwin Sullivan, Auditing Department.

The Management Development Council was created by Mayor

Kevin H. White to more fully utilize the experience of the many top-level career employees. The Council serves as an advisory committee to the Director of Administrative Services, Edward T. Sullivan. One of the first tasks of the Council will be to assist in creating a Development and Compensation Plan for the management employees of the city. A Description and Evaluation Committee has been appointed and is already at work obtaining the information necessary to properly evaluate each position in the management grouping. Other subcommittees to be announced in the near future will be: Management Personnel Policy Committee; Management Labor Relations Committee; Management Recruitment and Manpower Committee. Membership on these committees will involve approximately 50 of the 272 management employees in the work of the Council.

It is expected that the continuing exchange of information and ideas between the Council and the Director of Administrative Services will provide the type of communication with career managers necessary for the administration in making decisions for the best interests of the city.

Margaret T. Kelliher

Margaret T. Kelliher, 58 Neponset avenue, Dorchester, died on July 19. She was the beloved daughter of the late Annie (O'Neil) and John D. Kelliher; sister of Ruth Irvine of Dorchester and Anna C. Ward of Wollaston; aunt of Richard W. Irvine, Jr., Margaret Irvine, and Francis E. Ward, Jr. The funeral was held from the Stephen C. Higgins Funeral Home, on Wednesday, July 22. A Solemn High Mass of Requiem was celebrated in St. Ambrose's Church. She was a late member of St. Ambrose Lady's Sodality and Court No. 1198 C.D. of A.; also a late member of the City Clerk's Office, City of Boston.

Interment was in New Calvary Cemetery, Mattapan.

Senior Citizens' Passes

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority announced on July 24 that senior citizens' MBTA reduced-fare passes will continue to be honored after the expiration date printed on each pass.

Acting General Manager Joseph C. Kelly said that an expiration date that coincides with a senior citizen's birthday was put on the pass originally as a control measure, but because the response was and continues to be so great the Authority will not require reregistration, as it would be a considerable inconvenience to the senior citizens.

Since August 1, 1969, when the MBTA began registering senior citizens living in the transportation district, over 140,000 or nearly 50 percent of those eligible have received their reduced-fare passes for use on MBTA buses, streetcars and rapid transit trains.

As of July 17, one month before the first anniversary of the effective date of these passes, 140,421 senior citizens, 65 years old or older, had received their passes bearing their photographs. The program was set up in accordance with an act passed by the General Court earlier in 1969.

Since a permanent registration booth was established at Government Center Station on the Green Line last October 14, registrations have been averaging about 550 per week.

The experience of other systems issuing reduced-fare passes to senior citizens has been that 33 percent of those eligible apply for them.

Federal Grant for "Project Involve"

Mayor Kevin White recently announced receipt of a $180,000 federal grant to help finance a new city program which will create new community services for senior citizens in Boston's twelve Little City Halls.

The program, called Project Involve, was organized by the city's newly created Commission on Affairs of the Elderly. The program is designed to establish community organizations for senior citizens which will work with existing neighborhood agencies to improve delivery of vital services to the elderly. This program will also enable the elderly to play a larger role in decisions affecting them.

The Commission on Affairs of the Elderly requested the grant earlier this year under Title III of the Older Americans Act. The funding will cover a three-year period during which time the city will contribute $143,000 to the program, according to Joseph Kerrissey, Commissioner of Elderly Affairs.

"For too long our senior citizens have lacked an effective voice in government and effective local organizations to deal with their problems," Mayor White said. "When I took office I created the Council on Aging, which was recently made a permanent city commission. Further, I recently conducted a conference of seniors to hear their opinions on various issues. But still that was not enough.

"With Project Involve we will assure every senior citizen a voice in city government and a convenient place to go for information and assistance on those problems that affect him daily."

The Mayor said that the Little City Halls will be used because they are located in the heart of each neighborhood and are easily accessible to senior citizens.

Registry Examinations

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin announced July 28 that written examinations for learners' permits are now available in the Greek language at all district offices of the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Appointments should be made in advance at all offices with the exception of Boston, Springfield, Worcester, and Quincy.

Written examinations are also available in Polish, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, and French.

Brighton Library

Entertainment

The librarians at the Brighton Branch of the Boston Public Library have planned a series of "Summer Evenings on the Patio" (the Brighton Library's patio).

There you'll be able to hear informative anecdotes about summer stars (July 30), or exchange tasty—yet economical—recipes for cook-outs (August 13). One evening (August 27) a chamber ensemble will play a variety of melodies, from classical to popular, for your pleasure. Speakers will include Mrs. Wayman Cronan from the Massachusetts Garden Clubs; Mr. Frank McCorrison, president of the Bond Astronomy Club; and Miss Elizabeth Schmitt, nutritionist at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The programs are open, free of charge, to all who wish to attend. The Brighton Branch Library is conveniently located a few steps from the Academy Hill bus stop at Brighton Center. It's a large, new, modern building surrounded by attractive well-kept grounds at 40 Academy Hill road.

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 62

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1970

No. 32

1970 Tax Rate Announced By Mayor

The Boston property tax for 1970 will be $156.80, an increase of $12.40 over the 1969 rate, Mayor Kevin White announced July 31.

The 8.5 percent increase is approximately one-half the average increase of the thirty-eight other cities in the state, the Mayor noted. The 8.5 percent increase also is substantially below the average rise of 14 percent recorded in the seventy-seven cities and towns in the metropolitan Boston area, he added.

"Increases over which the Mayor has little or no control—such as collective bargaining agreements and school costs—account for $10.30 of the $12.40 increase in the tax rate," the Mayor explained. The remaining $2.10 is for new programs and expansion of existing ones.

"To keep pace with a highly inflationary economy and, at the same time, provide adequate funds for current and vital new programs while holding the increase to 8.5 percent reflects great credit on the quality of management of this administration," the Mayor said. The cost of living index in the Boston area rose 6.2 percent from 1969 to 1970, he noted.

The city closed out the fiscal year 1969 with a cash surplus of $12 million, $7 million of which has been earmarked for 1970 operations. The balance, $5 million, has been set aside to meet emergencies during the current year.

The Mayor noted he could have reduced artificially the $156.80 tax rate by $3 had he decided to raid the free cash fund, as have other administrations in an election year.

"Also, for the first time in the city's history, we will set aside 6 percent of our estimated tax revenue as a reserve to cover future tax abatements which the city may be obligated to grant," he said. "This, despite the fact that the law requires us to lay aside only 5 percent."

The 1 percent difference amounts to $2.4 million, the equivalent of $1.50 on the tax rate.

"It should be clear that had we chosen to play politics with the tax rate in this election year, we could have reduced the increase by $4.50," the Mayor said. "But had we followed that course, disregarding fiscal prudence, the already overburdened property owner would have been hit with a stunning increase next year."

In addition to a $1.9 million increase in Suffolk County budget, the entire cost of which is borne by Boston, and a $9.4 million increase in the school budget, the city budget includes the following increases which are mandatory for the continuance of current programs:

—$8.4 million required payroll increase for civilian employees' collective bargaining agreement and step-rate increases;

—$7.6 million for police collective bargaining agreement;

—$773,062 for achieving parity for firemen;

—$193,300 for clothing allowance for firemen as agreed to in their contract;

—$214,080 for the increased power cost of improved street lighting;

—$161,348 for the escalation cost in the city's rubbish collection contracts;

—$500,000 for the increased cost of veterans' benefits as required by state law;

—$107,917 for the required increase to 12 percent of the Library's budget for book purchases and periodicals to qualify for state aid;

—$2 million for continuation of current operations in the Health and Hospital Department for upgrading City Hospital so that it can retain its accreditation; and,

—$1.2 million for the city's 50 percent share of the increased cost of employees' hospital and insurance plans.

Hospital Career Development Program Graduation

The largest graduating class in the history of the Hospital Career Development Program, 184 trainees, received diplomas on July 29 during ceremonies at John Hancock Hall.

The graduates, all employees of Boston City Hospital, Mattapan Chronic Disease Hospital, and Long Island Chronic Disease Hospital, will receive promotions and automatic salary increases for completion of an 11-week on-the-job training and upgrading course.

The Hospital Career Development Program, which has produced three previous classes of graduates from Boston area hospitals, totaling 143, is jointly sponsored by the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees and the United States Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. Purpose of the training program is to equip hospital employees to move upward from low-paying dead-end jobs to better-paying positions with an opportunity for further advancement. A second important purpose is to provide skilled manpower badly needed by most of the nation's hospitals.

The graduates will receive automatic pay increases ranging up to $11.15 a week with their diplomas and will be promoted to such positions as the following: senior nursing assistant, X-ray laboratory aid, hospital dietary worker, power machine operator, senior hospital dietary worker, and laboratory assistant.

The principal speakers at the graduation ceremonies were: Samuel Merrick, Special Counsel to the Mayor; John Gracey, Director of the Boston City Hospital; Michael Botelho, AFSCME Regional Director; Manuel O'Bryant, Supervisor, Manpower Area Representative; Albert Terranova, Vice President, Economic and Manpower Corporation; Mrs. Betty Miller, National Administrator, Hospital Career Development Program; Joseph Bonavita, Director of AFSCME Council 45; George Gardas, Center Manager, Hospital

Career Development Program; Wallace Kountze, Deputy Commissioner of Personnel; David Nelson, Chairman Health and Hospitals Board of Trustees; and Jesse Taft, Vocational Program officer of HEW.

The graduates also received messages of congratulations from United States Senators Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke and from Governor Francis W. Sargent.

Mrs. Miller, speaking as National Program Director for the Union and on behalf of AFSCME's International President, Jerry Wurf, commended the graduates for their ambition and excellent attendance records and emphasized that the trainees had taken the first step up the hospital career ladder that could lead them to increasingly higher and better paid positions.

The need for hospital employees in every type of occupation is growing enormously, Mrs. Miller said. "During the years to come," she said, "there will be a 69 percent increase in the number of doctors needed, an 85 percent increase in the number of professional nurses needed, and a 168 percent increase in the number of hospital attendants and nurse aides required by the expanding hospital business. During the next years there will be an annual need for 50,000 practical nurses and 80,000 nurse aides. To achieve the nation's present health goals will require the employment of 2,300,000 workers performing direct health services as nonprofessional technicians, assistants, practical nurses, and nurse aides."

Commuter Railroads

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority announced July 29, that agreement was reached with the Penn Central Railroad to continue the present subsidy contract for passenger service another month, contingent upon Senate passage of the pending commuter railroad subsidy bill.

The present contract expired July 31, and negotiations for a new contract had reached an impasse.

Advisory Board action authorizing a $1.6 million subsidy for the Penn Central and $3.8 million for the Boston & Maine, providing 90 percent state financial assistance is assured, enabled the Authority to accept the Penn Central's offer to continue passenger service for another month. The Advisory Board also recommended a 10 percent fare increase on both railroads.

The Authority's Board of Directors immediately requested the railroads to file petitions for the 10 percent fare increase to become effective on Tuesday, September 1.

Twenty New Youth Centers for Hub

Within two weeks Boston will have twenty new youth centers completed or under way on vacant lots throughout the city, Mayor Kevin White announced on August 3.

The round wooden structures will be built by 200 Boston youths hired by the city's Youth Activities

Commission and Action for Boston Community Development, Inc. (ABCD), with a $96,000 federal grant.

The centers—one in each neighborhood—will house materials for recreational activities and will service approximately 5,000 youngsters throughout Boston when they are completed. The structures can also be used for small discussion groups and seminars.

"The construction of these structures not only provides the 200 youths involved with a chance to earn some money; it extends the recreational facilities and activities for many of our young people, permitting them to take advantage of the opportunities that our city offers," Mayor White said.

The 200 youths, ages fourteen through twenty-one, are members of an eight-week recreational/educational program, sponsored by the Youth Activities Commission in conjunction with ABCD, which began July 15. The youngsters have been planning recreational programs for themselves and will aid in setting up programs for children between the ages of six and thirteen at the new youth centers.

Sites for the youth centers were selected by the Youth Activities Commission in conjunction with the Mayor's Youth Council and community groups.

"This experience should be especially rewarding for these young people because they will be working in their own neighborhoods at facilities which they built not only for themselves, but as additional playgrounds for younger brothers and sisters," Mayor White said.

The recreation programs will include cultural enrichment trips, arts and crafts, tennis, baseball, football, hockey, swimming, and track.

Transportation both to the work sites and for recreational purposes will be provided by "mini-busses." The youth centers will also coordinate their activities with other city recreational programs in order to avoid duplication of activities.

Evening Voter Registration Available

More than one-quarter of Boston's eligible residents are not registered to vote, according to Joseph D. Murphy, Chairman, Board of Election Commissioners. The city's drive to reach this "silent minority" of potential voters will have an extra push during its last week, August 10-15, with evening registration throughout the city.

Over forty registration centers—including City Hall—will be open evenings Monday through Friday to make registration as easy as possible for Boston residents.

Each of the Little City Halls, which are also open for daytime registration, and one other location in each of Boston's twenty-two wards will be open until 9 P.M., Monday, August 10, through Friday, August 14. All of these centers will be open from 9 A.M. to 10 P.M. on Saturday, August 15, the final day to register to vote in the September primary election.

The city's four bright yellow vans have visited each of the city's 251 precincts during the registration drive. They will continue their stops at MBTA stations, shopping centers, and neighborhood locations until August 15. This is the first summer that Boston has used these mobile registration centers.

Any adult is eligible to register if he has lived in Massachusetts for one year, Boston for six months, and if he will be twenty-one years old by the day of the election in which he wishes to vote.

Neighborhood groups are encouraged by the city to participate in the registration effort. All information, including locations of all registration centers, is available at the Little City Halls or from the Election Department, 722-4100, Ext. 214.

Though registration for the September primary closes August 15, there will be another registration period preceding the November election, ending on October 15. A person must be registered a month before the election in which he intends to vote under state law.

BCH Careers Program

The Boston City Hospital Out-Patient Department and the Black Big Brothers Alliance, Inc., sponsored a health careers orientation program recently for over fifty youths aged twelve to sixteen.

The program held at Boston City Hospital was part of an overall summer program being conducted by the Black Big Brothers Alliance at the Martin Luther King Middle School to educate youngsters toward the opportunities in medicine and its allied fields.

Mrs. Margaret Clemons, Assistant Deputy Commissioner, Out-Patient Department, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. David S. Nelson, Chairman, Health and Hospitals, Board of Trustees. In his welcoming remarks he noted that there is a great need for health services today and that tremendous opportunities are available for those who pursue them.

The following specialists spoke about the opportunities in their respective fields: Oswald Warner, M.D. (physician); Alma York, R.N. (nurse); Wilson Hunt (community coordinator); Maureen Groden (unit manager); Faye Weston (medical social worker); Julie Vaughn (welfare social worker); Deborah Grant (laboratory technician); Marian Bogosian (medical records); and Jane Tarver (nutritionist).

Much credit for the success of the program can be given to Mrs. Alma York, R.N., program chairman, and Mr. Octavius Rowe, Administrator, Black Big Brothers Alliance, Inc.

A plaque, honoring the memory of the late Joe Keblinsky, Boston Globe reporter, was dedicated Friday, July 31, in the City Hall pressroom headquarters. Joe, affectionately referred to as "the dean" by his fellow reporters, passed away on April 10, at the age of 63. Hundreds of his friends led by Mayor White, crowded the pressroom and corridor to listen to glowing tributes lauding this most capable and respected reporter. His keen sense of humor, injected into his writings, placed him high on the list of Boston's political writers. Joe extended himself many times aiding those who sought his assistance including this writer. Joe's children, Christine, Andrew, Peter and Joseph; his brother, John; his sister, Mrs. Joseph Golembeski; his daughter-in-law, Denise, and his niece, Mary Jo, attended the impres-

Political Littering

The Board of Election Commissioners has notified all candidates for public office that the city ordinance which prohibits the posting of political signs on public property will be strictly enforced.

The notification came after Mayor White announced last month he would order that the law be strictly enforced in the interests of a better environment. The ordinance has been largely ignored by other administrations.

"Much concern has been expressed by public figures in the past year about the quality of the environment," Mayor White said. "The forthcoming campaign offers those of us who are candidates for office a chance to demonstrate that our concern is serious.

"I do not think there is anything we as candidates can do that will more eloquently testify to the sincerity of our concern for the environment than to deviate from tradition and refrain from political littering in this campaign," the Mayor said.

CITY OF BOSTON

AIR POLLUTION CONTROL COMMISSION

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Ordered, That due notice be given that this Commission is of the opinion that the concentration of certain air contaminants in the air over Boston should be reduced to levels generally considered acceptable as indicated by ambient air quality standards promulgated by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, and that in partial fulfillment of this goal the following regulations be proposed:

That certain terms be defined; and

That new installations of fuel-burning equipment be so designed and constructed as to satisfy the Commission that emissions therefrom will not exceed 0.28 pounds of sulfur dioxide and 0.05 pounds of particulate matter per million BTU of potential energy contained in the fuel burned; and

That the use of bituminous coal and Number 6 residual fuel oil be prohibited in any fuel-burning equipment having an hourly input capacity of not more than 60 gallons of oil or the energy equivalent thereof, and the use of Number 5 residual fuel oil be prohibited in any fuel-burning equipment having an hourly input capacity of not more than 30 gallons of oil or the energy equivalent thereof, after July 1, 1972; and

That other existing fuel-burning installations presently burning coal or residual fuel oil be so modified physically or as to fuel used that emissions therefrom be reduced to comply with certain proposed emission standards, within three to five years (as specified) after the effective date of this regulation and that the density of particulate emissions from all fuel-burning equipment, other than equipment burning coal or residual fuel oil, not exceed Number 2 on the Bachrach scale, measured prior to discharge.

Additionally the Commission proposes for later adoption a regulation requiring the installation of emission control equipment to prevent particulate discharges during soot blowing and a regulation to control the height and location of stacks and chimneys on new buildings.

Substantially that this Commission intends to adopt such regulations in accordance with Massachusetts General Laws, c. 111, sec. 31C, and that it appoints 10 A.M. of Monday, August 17, 1970, and Room 801, Boston City Hall, as the time and place for the public hearing in the matter.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT Purchasing Division X-RAY FILMS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Invitation to bid on proposals for furnishing medical X-ray films and supplies, Proposal 052, to the various city departments from April 1, 1970, to March 31, 1971, inclusive, was advertised in the City Record. Subsequently, bids received were publicly opened and read in this office on March 6, 1970.

Picker Medical Products was the lowest responsible and eligible bidder on Items 8, 9, 24, and 25. However, their bid was irregular because it was not signed. Authority is requested to reject all bids received on these items and dispense with further advertising and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Picker Medical Products at the prices submitted on their public bid.

The amount of the contract is not to exceed $12,491.20, less 2 percent, 60 days, on items 8 and 9, and net on Items 24 and 25.

Authority is requested to award contracts for the remaining items to the lowest responsible and eligible bidders, by item. Prices will be as indicated on the accompanying tabulation. The proposed vendors and approximate amounts of contracts will be:

General Electric Company, Medical Systems Department, $292,571.72, net, 30 days; Litton Medical Products, Inc., Profexray Division, $19,342.40, less 2 percent discount, time of payment; MacBick Company, $2,640, less 2 percent discount, time of payment; Travenol Laboratories, Inc., $2,234.40, less 1 percent discount, 60 days.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DAILY TRANSPORTATION

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting held on April 23, 1970, the Board of Health and Hospitals voted to award a contract to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, 500 Arborway, Jamaica Plain, to provide for the furnishing of daily transportation for student nurses between the Boston City Hospital and their dormitory facilities at the Mattapan Chronic Disease Hospital, for the period April 1, 1970, through March 31, 1971, at a cost not to exceed $15,000.

No bids were submitted in answer to our advertisement in the City Record issue of March 2, 1970. However, inasmuch as the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority has indicated a willingness to continue this service, which is vital to the Department of Health and Hospitals, at the same cost as the service was provided for in the previous year, your approval is requested to award this contract for the period and in the amount stated above.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW P. SACKETT, M.D.,
Commissioner.

City Record

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 62

MONDAY, AUGUST 17, 1970

NO. 33

Police Department Adds 150 Men

Mayor Kevin White announced on August 7 that 150 men will be added to the Boston Police Department, lifting the total authorized strength of the force to 2,767 men. He also announced the establishment of a police substation, the city's third, to serve the Mission Hill area.

"While I am encouraged by the performance of the Boston Police and by the fact that the rise in crime in the city during the first quarter of this year was 10 percent below the national upsurge of 13 percent, that is only half the story," the Mayor said. "There has been a significant increase in the number of robberies and burglaries committed in the city and by placing more policemen on the street—making them more visible—we hope to reverse this trend."

Recreation Program

Boston's Model City Administration has begun a summer-long recreation program which will provide a variety of activities for youth of all ages. It includes a special program for the Spanish-speaking, track, swimming and gymnastic instruction, a tot-lot program employing Model Neighborhood mothers, and a cultural program to be run by the Elma Lewis School of Performing Arts.

The program for Spanish-speaking, including softball games, arts and crafts, trips, swimming, parades, and special festivals is being coordinated by the Spanish Alliance. It is the first program of its type in Boston.

The sports program for ages nine to fourteen will include instruction

"The new men will be assigned to those districts where burglary and robbery have a high rate of incidence," the Mayor added.

"Studies have shown a correlation between the illegal use of drugs and the number of burglaries committed," he said. "A heroin addict must steal and 'fence' approximately $1,000 worth of goods weekly," he noted. "We are moving against this problem not only by increasing the number of policemen, but by attacking the drug problem through our Turnoff program." More than 400 "pushers" have been arrested in the city since throughout the neighborhood parks and gymnasiums and competitive events for both boys and girls.

The tot-lot program was set up to provide supervision and special programs for preschool-age children. Neighborhood mothers will be hired to work up to twenty hours a week in eighteen tot lots in the Model City area.

The cultural program will concentrate on teaching youth costuming, music, drama, and other fine arts. The Elma Lewis School will send staff members to various community agencies to run the program as well as select youth to visit the Elma Lewis Center and participate in the program.

mid-February, when the Police Department's Narcotics Control Unit was established.

The Mayor noted that the addition of 150 men was in keeping with the administration's continuing program to put more policemen on the street.

Since taking office in January, 1968, the Mayor has added more than 100 men to the force and has put an additional 140 men on the street by hiring civilians to perform jobs within the department not directly related to fighting crime.

Establishment of the new Police Academy in the North End last month, which has facilities to train 250 recruits, was a major factor in the decision to add 150 men at one time, Mayor White explained. Only 100 men could be trained simultaneously at the old Police Academy at Station 4, and space shortages restricted curriculum and techniques.

The recruiting is expected to be completed by October 1, when the new men will be put through sixteen weeks of training at the Academy. The program is expected to cost the city $300,000 for the balance of this year and $1.2 million next year.

He said the new police substation will be located in the Maurice Tobin Municipal Building and will be opened about November 15. It will serve residents of Mission Hill upon completion of a new police station on Dudley street which will replace the present Division 10 station at Roxbury Crossing.

Management Development Council Newsletter

"I consider this one of the most exciting developments of this administration in terms of what it can do for both the managerial employees and for the City of Boston."

The speaker was Edward T. Sullivan, Director of Administrative Services. He was speaking informally to members of the newly created Management Development Council at their biweekly meeting, August 6. Mr. Sullivan went on to state: "For the first time in history the people who really make the city 'tick' have been identified. It is up to us now to construct a plan and a system which will give you not only recognition but the job satisfaction which comes from having a voice in what happens and a chance to make a valuable contribution from your knowledge and experience."

"The Kevin White administration is dedicated to improving employee morale in Boston, and it will start with the managers. We ask those who may have grown cynical from long neglect to approach this with an open mind. If they will help us identify obstacles in the path, we will remove them."

What is the Management Development Council?

On Wednesday, May 6, approximately 282 city employees (including department heads and top-level career employees who have been excluded from union activities because of their managerial status) received an invitation from Mayor Kevin H. White to attend a meeting at the Parker House for "all management employees of the City of Boston for the purpose of being apprised of all matters under consideration which will affect your compensation and development as a manager."

At this meeting the management employees were informed of the many plans to improve their image and status. As a first step in this development, an eight-member committee was appointed to spearhead the movement for development of management employees. This Management Development Council, created by Mayor White to more fully utilize the experience of the many top-level career employees, will serve as an advisory committee to the Director of Administrative Services, Edward T. Sullivan.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 13

To All Department Heads.

GENTLEMEN:

If overtime expense or employment of substitute personnel will be required due to such absence, then said delegates may be granted leave of absence only with loss of pay. Travel time allowed.

Very truly yours,

KEVIN H. WHITE,
Mayor.

Frisbee Championship

Brightly colored whirling plastic discs will soon be filling the sky as the Boston Parks and Recreation Department launches the Regional Final Competition in the National Junior Frisbee Championships on Thursday, August 20.

Boys and girls ages eight to fifteen will be eligible to participate at 10 A.M. on Boston Common, with winners advancing to competition in the National Championships.

The Frisbee is capable of spectacular flight patterns, depending upon the skills and dexterity of the individual.

John Landry, contest director for the Parks and Recreation Department, said competition would include such Frisbee events as backhand straight throw; backhand right curve; backhand left curve; backhand or underhand skip flight; distance throw; and one-hand straight catch.

Nationally, more than 475 Parks and Recreation Departments and Y.M.C.A.'s in every state are participating, with more than three-quarters of a million youngsters expected to compete.

At the end of the rainbow is the National Junior Championship, won in 1969 by fifteen-year-old Darrell Lewis of Portland, Oregon, who captured the title and a $1,000 United States Savings Bond at New York's Madison Square Garden in December.

The 1970 National Junior Championship will be held this year in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The following states will be participating in the upcoming Regional Contest:

Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Virginia.

For further information about this contest please contact: John T. Landry, senior recreation coordinator, at JA 4-6400.

Drug Program Started

FIRST, Inc., a rehabilitative drug program operated by ex-drug addicts, has signed a contract with Boston's Model City Administration to operate much of the Model City drug program.

It moved into its permanent headquarters at 167 Centre street which will serve as a halfway house for men wishing to withdraw from drugs. Patients will receive physical treatment, therapy, job training, and later be placed in jobs by the FIRST staff.

FIRST will also run a drop-in center at Massachusetts avenue and Tremont street where counselors will run preventative drug programs as well as make referrals to the halfway house. This is expected to be opened around the first of August.

FIRST, Inc., has been in operation since 1968. It was started by several inmates at the Deer Island Correctional Institution who felt that there was a great need to set up a halfway house for drug addicts like that set up for alcoholics.

With the signing of the contract, FIRST received Model Cities funds to expand its operation. Six patients have already entered the halfway house, which in full operation will house up to thirty persons. Presently there are nine persons on the staff at FIRST.

Tennis Championships

The 1970 Boston Parks and Recreation Playground Tennis Championships will be held on Thursday, August 20, at 10 A.M., at the Franklin Field Courts in Dorchester.

Competition will be held in the boys and girls division, in the sixteen and under, fourteen and under, and twelve and under classes.

All contestants will be participants in the expanded Summer Tennis Program, held city-wide on the Hub playgrounds.

To compete, all youngsters must register on their local play area by Wednesday, August 19.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Tennis Director, Tim Taylor, at 722-4100 on extension 138.

Training Program

A federal waiver allowing contractors to pay training wages in a Boston Model City construction training program may pave the way for a large increase, in such programs throughout the Model Neighborhood, according to Paul Parks, Model City Administrator.

The United States Department of Labor granted the waiver recently for a sheetrocker and taper training program to be run by the United Community Construction Workers (U.C.C.W.) in conjunction with Boston's Model City Administration and contractors Ben Polishook and Lester Clemente.

Eight sheetrockers and six tapers will receive on-the-job training for six months while rehabilitating eighty-three units located in eight buildings in the Model City area. The U.C.C.W. has guaranteed placement of the trainees after they complete the program.

Parks Department

Members Lauded

Three veteran members of the Boston Parks and Recreation Department were lauded "for outstanding services to the youth of the City of Boston" last night by Suffolk County CYO Deanery.

Louise Kennedy, senior recreation coordinator for women's athletics, William Walsh, senior recreation coordinator for men's athletics, and Bob Cusick, assistant director of recreation, were presented with award plaques at the Suffolk Deanery Banquet of Champions, August 11, in Dorchester Armory.

More than 1,100 greater Boston youth who compete in CYO athletics were on hand for the presentation. Parks and Recreation Commissioner Joseph E. Curtis addressed the group.

Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. Walsh, and Mr. Cusick have worked for many years in coordinating athletics for the archdiocesan youth group, including baseball, softball, and basketball.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

BUILDING DEPARTMENT BUILDING RAZED

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The following houses have been condemned by me as being in an unsafe and dangerous condition. Notices have been sent to the owners, but they have taken no steps to abate the dangerous condition. These buildings are a menace to the neighborhood. The locations follow:

482 Dudley street, Ward 8.

Accordingly, in conformity with provisions of chapter 479, Acts of 1938, as amended, particularly section 116(d) thereof, I have asked and have received your Honor's permission to enter these various premises and to raze the structure.

Bidders were requested to submit an aggregate bid for the entire lot of houses, but to break down their bids to show the charge against each separate address. This breakdown is necessary for later departmental use in billing demolition costs incurred against the individual property owner of each house.

We have solicited invitation bids, award to be made to the lowest qualified bidder, and have received the following:

Mystic, $3,347; Maher & Fall, $2,350; Arrow, $2,250; John J. Duane, $2,878.

Arrow Wrecking Company, 316 Tremont street, Boston, Mass., has submitted the lowest aggregate bid. This company is thoroughly familiar with this work, it carries all necessary insurance and it has done satisfactory work for this department in the past.

Bids for the demolition of individual houses were not requested because it would be a practical, physical impossibility for several different wreckers to conduct efficient wrecking operations simultaneously in individual houses. Under such conditions, there would be much mutual interference, and each wrecker would be exposed to severe hazards not under his control, by the operations of adjacent wreckers. I also believe that the aggregate cost of individual bids would be much higher than the cost of one bid for the lot, and that handling the houses as one unit results in lower administrative costs to the city than would result from handling the houses as separate bids and contracts. Unit handling results, however, in this case, in a contract price $2,000 or over the statutory limitations upon awards that can be made without advertising, unless your Honor approves the transaction.

Accordingly, I ask your Honor's approval for the awarding, without advertising, as required in the city charter, of a contract in the sum of $2,250 to the Arrow Wrecking Company, 316 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.

Very truly yours,
R. R. THUMA, Jr.,
Building Commissioner.

Patrolman William W. Stuart, from Criminal Investigation Division to Traffic Division.

August 7.

Personnel Order No. 2722

The following-named patrolmen are hereby detailed to the Bureau of Community Affairs, effective Monday, August 10, 1970, for duty until further orders.

Patrolman Ernest E. Hill, District 9.
Patrolman Wendall T. Wallace, jr., District 9.

The contractor will counsel landlords and tenants in landlord-tenant and tenant-tenant relationships with attention on such relationships in small multi-family dwellings. The contractor will also assist residents in obtaining housing, both for rental and purchase, in areas outside the Model City area, and its vicinity. It is requested that the contract be awarded without advertising, because the contractor has extensive experience in performing such services, and has thereby acquired the expertise necessary to provide such services in the Model City area. DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

The contractor will develop and maintain a current list of available or prospectively available rental units. The contractor will expand its current rental counseling service to assist renters requiring assistance to improve their housing accommodations. EDUCATIONAL INNOVATIONS

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to enter into contract without advertising, in an amount not to exceed $25,000 with the Boston Education and Film Center, 18 Oliver street, Boston, Mass., for production of a film describing educational innovations at the elementary school level, which shall be provided as a 16 millimeter, black and white film of twenty minutes length.

The increased Local Education Responsibility department is responsible for providing technical assistance to parental and community groups about the possibility for improved education. This film will show the programs already in operation in and around Boston which deserve increased public attention and will also highlight instances of successful community participation in the educational process.

It is requested that the contract be awarded without advertising, because of the unusually pertinent experience of the members of this firm — Carolyn Isber and Jamil Simon — who have previously cooperated in the production of films made in the Boston schools.

Sincerely,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

LEASE OF F.A.I.T. BUILDING TO MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under a delegation of its powers from the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in the City

Record in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the Model City Administrator specifically to provide classrooms to implement the higher education program under a grant contract between the Department of Housing and Urban Development and City of Boston, Model City Administration.

The premises to be included in the proposed lease are the entire first and second floors, containing approximately 18,000 square feet of the building known as the F.A.I.T. Building, 462 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, Mass. The term of the lease shall be from September 1, 1970, through August 31, 1971. The rent will be $85,000 per year. The lease will further provide for an option that the city may renew the lease on a twelve-month basis for four successive years.

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is believed that public advertising would be of no usefulness in this instance.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT T. KENNEY,
Director.

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 62

NO. 34

Mayor Initiates Anti-Drug Abuse Program

Mayor Kevin White announced on August 15 that in September Boston will open the first municipally operated treatment center for teen-age drug users in Massachusetts.

As part of Turn-Off, Mayor White's anti-drug abuse program, the city has purchased for $500,000 the Franklin Square House in the South End, to be used to treat 100 patients. The building will also house an evaluation and counseling unit to advise young people with drug problems and to provide short-term counseling to teen-agers and their parents.

"I am certain every parent in this state is aware of the crisis confronting us and our children," Mayor White said. "The problem of drug abuse among young people is growing every day, and it does not end at the city's boundaries. It is evident throughout the suburbs and throughout the state.

"The only truly effective means to combat this problem is to extend the type of program we have in Boston state-wide. A program of education, treatment, and increased law enforcement must be organized across the state."

With the opening of the residential drug treatment center for teen-agers, the Turn-Off program will have implemented a full scope of treatment, education, and increased law enforcement proposed by the Mayor in March.

Presently operating under Turn-Off are the following:

Two outpatient treatment centers—one in East Boston at the Relief Station on Porter street; the other in Boston City Hospital. These facilities offer a full range of out-patient treatment, including group therapy, individual psychotherapy, occupational counseling, and methadone maintenance and withdrawal.

A withdrawal unit and day care center for adult drug users at the Mattapan Chronic Disease Hospital.

A drug information hot line operating out of the emergency ward at Boston City Hospital. The service provides information, referral service, and crisis consultation.

A drug education and teacher-training program, implemented in Boston schools in May, and to be continued in September.

A drug identification service where samples of drugs may be left anonymously by parents or teen-agers. The service provides the name of the drug, its medical uses, common abuse, and dangerous side effects.

Symposiums for educators held this summer at City Hall.

A new Narcotics Control Unit of the Boston Police Department.

Four hundred pushers have been arrested since February.

The Mayor also announced that Turn-Off will provide financial support to four community self-help groups. Beginning this month and through December 31, Turn-Off will provide a total of $42,000 for operational funds for Project Turnabout, Brighton; Columbia Point Drug Center, South Boston; Martha Elliot Drug Rehabilitation Unit, Jamaica Plain; and Mass. Transition, Roslindale.

"It is impossible for the city to fight the drug abuse problem single-handedly," Mayor White said. "It is essential that both private and public programs are coordinated in an effort to stem the spiraling drug problem. Through this united effort, I am certain we will be able to confront the situation intelligently and alleviate the problem."

The Turn-Off program is presently funded by a $500,000 city appropriation and a $150,000 federal grant from the Safe Streets Act. Approval of further funds are pending and expected shortly, according to the Mayor. Overseeing the city program is a 21-member Coordinating Council on Drug Abuse, appointed by the Mayor in March.

The new Turn-Off residential treatment center will become fully operative next spring. Beginning in September the first of five 20-bed units will be opened. Additional units will open at two-month intervals. This will allow time to recruit and train sufficient staff members, according to the Mayor.

The center will have its own medical and counseling staff in residence and will be complete with dining facilities and study and recreation rooms.

Any person under eighteen can be admitted for treatment by his parents, or by himself without fear of a police record. The courts can also admit a teen-ager instead of sending him to jail. The youths would remain in residence for several months if necessary, until cured of their drug dependency.

In addition to the Turn-Off Center, the building will house administrative offices of the city's Health and Hospitals Department. The remainder of the building—approximately 50 percent—will be provided rent free for use by community service groups, Mayor White said.

The Mayor's Office of Public Service and the city's Public Facilities Department have conducted meetings with community groups to develop plans for community usage of the building. Involved in the planning have been the United South End Settlements, South End Neighborhood Action Program, Emergency Tenants Council, APCROSS, South End Tenants Council, South End Project Area Committee, and the People's Urban Renewal Committee.

Operation "Clean Air"

David Standley, Executive Director of Boston's Air Pollution Control Commission, said on August 14, that the omission of Boston from the recent "pollution list of dirty cities" does not mean that Boston's air is clean.

Quoting a recent article in Air and Water News, Standley noted "Late last week NAPCA (National Air Pollution Control Administration) told the Air and Water News reporter that the 'dirtiest cities' rankings are invalid and misleading. The NAPCA spokesman went on to say 'It may be that areas not mentioned may have higher levels of air pollution than those listed.'"

Standley mentioned that the furor caused by the publication of the so-called "pollution list" has confused many citizens.

"We cannot sit back and feel comforted by Boston's absence from those lists," he said. "We know Boston's air is dirty, and we must continue making every effort to clean it up."

New Housing Projects for Senior Citizens

Mayor Kevin White began construction of the first of thirteen low-rent housing projects for senior citizens on Saturday, August 14, with the demolition of eight buildings across from St. Peter's Church in Dorchester.

The 96-unit housing project, located at Quincy and Bowdoin streets, is the first project for senior citizens to be built since Mayor White announced the $57 million program for construction of low-rent housing throughout the city on June 30.

The sixty-five efficiencies and thirty-one one-bedroom apartments will be the first high-rise public housing project to be constructed with factory-built housing units that are assembled at the site and inserted in the outer shell of the building by cranes.

This will also be the first building to be affected by the new City of Boston Building Code, which became effective July 1.

The high-riser will encompass a block of stores that have been boarded up for over three years and will be easily accessible to all the facilities needed by senior citizens, such as transportation, stores, and health services.

Recreation Centers for Six Communities

Recreation facilities at six housing projects will be under construction this fall, it was announced on August 12 by Mayor Kevin White, who made the announcement while visiting the new office of the Boston Tenants' Council at 99 Bedford street.

Identical precast concrete structures will go up on Boston Housing Authority land at Columbia Point in Dorchester, Mission Hill in Roxbury, Orchard Park in the South End, Charlestown, Archdale in Roslindale, and Morton street in Mattapan.

Mayor White said, "The first of these badly needed community facilities should be ready for use by next spring."

The recreation centers will house community meeting rooms, small kitchens, and arts and crafts rooms. Gymnasiums, which occupy the largest part of the buildings, will have basketball courts, volleyball courts, and body-building equipment. The gymnasiums will be available to the community for dances and entertainments, and the recreation facilities will be open not to just housing project residents but to the entire community.

Robert T. Kenney, Director of the Public Facilities Department, commented on the total project cost of $1 million, saying, "These new centers will provide first-class recreation facilities which, because of economic planning and design, we are able to build at a minimal cost."

Mayor White welcomed Harold Scott to the new post of Director of the Tenants' Council. Scott will coordinate the activities of the 104-member organization and its member housing projects.

The Council recently received a $30,000 grant from Permanent Charities to carry on its work of organizing residents of the city's projects and implementing the changes and innovations recommended by their representatives.

Mayor Seeks Curb of Increased Rents

Boston is at present facing a housing crisis. One of the chief causes of the crisis is spiraling rents. It is disturbing to learn that, while the city is trying to keep local landlords from charging inflationary rents, the Federal Housing Administration is permitting large rent increases.

One of the major tools we have employed to deal with the crisis in housing is Boston's Rent Control Board. The Federal Housing Authority's most recent approval of rent increases in many of Boston's 221(d) (3) projects and rehabilitated units totally undercuts the city's present policy. The Authority has authorized inflationary rent increases without regard to the present tenants' ability to pay these rents, and without giving them a hearing. Rent increases in some cases range up to $35 a month.

Some of the increases are in buildings that are substantially incomplete and are also in violation of the State Sanitary Code. All these facts seem to indicate that the F.H.A.'s regulations are insufficient to afford any protection from the spiraling rents and substandard living conditions which affect both the residents of 221(d) (3) units and the critical housing situation in the city as a whole.

Those regulations ought to be rewritten and administered so that the alleged beneficiary of the 221(d) (3) program—the tenant—receives the kind of protection that only the F.H.A. and the developer receive under the present regulations. As we believe that this marks a serious failure on the part of the present federal administration, we urge the F.H.A. to reexamine its recent decision and we urge Senators Kennedy and Brooke to hasten the inception of a Senate investigation of this situation, so that these conditions can be added to the proposed 1970 changes in federal housing laws.

Representatives of the housing projects affected by these increases met August 13 in Faneuil Hall to discuss ways of reducing the rent increases. I support their efforts wholeheartedly.

Senior Citizens' Picnic Successful

The fourteenth annual picnic of Boston's "Golden Age Club," co-sponsored by Mayor White and the Parks and Recreation Department, was held at Castle Island, South Boston, on Wednesday, August 12.

Despite a threat of rain, more than 2,200 senior citizens showed up and enjoyed this happy event. Everything was free, and the catered refreshments were delicious. The principal speakers were Mayor Kevin H. White, Commissioner Joseph E. Curtis of the Parks Department, and Joseph B. Kerrissey, Commissioner on Affairs of the Elderly.

The superb entertainment, donated by Boston's leading performers, included Sid Walsh; May Ahearn; Lieut. Frank Bonner, Fire Department; Mary McNulty, Parks Department; Gene DeBenedetto, Traffic Department; and Edra Thoth and David Drummond, ballet dancers from the Boston Ballet Company.

The orchestra was conducted by Boston's famous Jimmy Hooley, and the M.C. chores were flawlessly done by the capable Frank Kennedy of the Parks and Recreation Department.

DIRECTIVE NO. 12
FEDERAL ASSISTANCE OFFICE

August 17, 1970.

To All Department Heads.

For the past several months, the Administrative Services Department has been working on the development of a systematic method of coordinating and supervising all city programs being carried on with federal and/or state assistance. The first accomplishment in this effort was a complete inventory of current grant-in-aid programs coming into the city. The second accomplishment was establishing a continuing assessment of all congressional and state legislation and other information related to assistance programs. The third accomplishment was establishing a process by which information on any possibilities for new assistance programs are channeled to the appropriate department head for his decision on the desirability of applying for such assistance.

We have now taken the next important step in this development process with the establishment of a Federal Assistance Office within the Administrative Services Department. This office is headed by Mr. Richard J. Gerrior, who has been recently appointed to the position of Federal Aid Coordinator. Mr. Gerrior's office is located at 34 Quincy Market Building. His telephone numbers are 722-4490 and 4491.

The Federal Assistance Office will continue to maintain the inventory of assistance programs in which the city government is participating, and will continue to review all congressional and state legislation and provide information to city agencies on possibilities for additional assistance.

The Federal Assistance Office will also undertake important new responsibilities. These are as follows:

1. Initial review of departmental proposals to apply for federal and/or state assistance programs.

2. Reporting to the Director of Administrative Services on whether the proposal is consistent with the plans and priorities of the city administration, is consistent with the city budget, and if matching funds exist or can be obtained.

3. If the proposal is approved, the Federal Assistance Office will notify the agency, provide guidance to the agency in preparation of the program application, and coordinate the application where necessary with related agencies and groups. However, the primary responsibility for preparation of the application will rest with the requesting agency.

4. The Federal Assistance Office will perform the final review of the completed application, submit the application to the Mayor's Office for signature, and forward the application to the appropriate governmental unit.

5. The Federal Assistance Office will also monitor the submission of all financial reports required by the funding agencies on any assistance programs to insure that the city receives all reimbursements, etc., to which it is entitled.

A copy of the form for submission of grant proposals is attached to this directive. Additional copies of this form can be obtained from the Federal Assistance Office. Please note that no future applications for federal or state assistance will be approved by the Mayor except upon recommendation of the Federal Assistance Office.

Announcement of the establishment of the Federal Assistance Office in the City of Boston is being made to all appropriate federal and state agencies.

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

London's Fogs Lessening

London was a lovely city plagued by pea-soup fogs until a few years ago. Today, because of the Clean Air Act, soupy fogs are thinning out.

Eighteen years ago, 4,000 people died when a great smog swept over London. A major villain was the smoke from thousands of open coal fires.

The disaster helped pressure the British to pass a Clean Air Act a decade ago. London has not had a stifling smog since 1962, and no pea-soup fogs for the last five years.

Today homeowners in certain areas are permitted to burn only certain fuels or to use electricity. British chimneys emit less smoke. And the government's Air Pollution Research Unit reports a steady improvement in the lung function of citizens for five consecutive years.

Health diaries kept by bronchitis patients show a pattern of fewer and milder attacks as the air has become clearer. Birds that had become rare in Britain are now returning in flocks. And flowers are blooming where they once withered in the sulfuric air.

But if the problem is decreasing in Britain, it is on the upswing in the United States. A Federal Air Quality Act was enacted in 1967, but states decide the air pollution standards they want. And there are enormous variations. Public reaction plays a big role in the government's decision to approve or reject these standards, however.

Check with your local Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association to find out about the air pollution standards in your area. Fighting for cleaner air is a struggle you can join. Making the air cleaner is a necessity. It's a matter of life and breath. Maybe even yours.

Mayor Urges Naval Shipyard Promotion

Following are the prepared remarks by Mayor Kevin H. White at "Mayors' and Selectmen's Day," Boston Naval Shipyard, August 25, 1970:

Captain Burk, Distinguished Guests, Employees of the Boston Naval Shipyard.

On behalf of all city and town officials assembled here, I thank you for declaring this "Mayors' and Selectmen's Day." As Mayor of the City of Boston, and as a lifelong resident of the area, I feel that I am a member of the Boston Naval Shipyard family.

At the height of its 'round-the-clock activity during World War II, this naval facility was the second largest employer of all naval shipyards in the nation. With 55,000 employees, it was like a city within a city—a scene of unceasing skilled activity that built and repaired hundreds of ships for both the United States and her allies.

From our country's earliest days this shipyard has been a first line of defense, and it must continue to be such. I hope that this "Promote the Boston Naval Shipyard" effort will grow strongly and attract the support of all citizens throughout the state. I should be most disappointed were this movement to blossom today only to wither tomorrow.

For we all have—or should have—an active interest in the future status of our navy, and, in particular, our own Boston Naval Shipyard. This shipyard provides Massachusetts with an annual income of more than $200 million in contracts and salaries, and is a very important industry that strongly feeds the economy of Boston and our Bay State.

But in spite of availability of these excellent facilities, which can build or recondition anything that floats, Boston today finds itself with the second largest surplus of shipbuilders in the country. By surplus I mean unemployed shipbuilders. Other areas of the country, busier shipyards—for example, in the south and on the west coast—are trying to entice these skilled artisans.

It is a needless and uncalled-for situation. Here in Boston we have a facility that should be building new naval vessels and employing at least 10,000, but instead we have a shrinking force of 6,000. And among those shipyard employees who are left there is the ever-present fear of layoff or lack of work.

A strong and modern navy is one of our best lines of defense. Our Boston Naval Shipyard has always been a vital part of that line of defense. The big yard is also a "first line" in the economy of the state. We have already lost enough to other shipyards, and this is where we drive the stake. The line holds here, at the Boston Naval Shipyard!

I'm with you all the way in making this firm stand! I look forward to sitting down at the briefing that follows this meeting, to discuss what may be next in store for this shipyard if we don't do something about it. Regardless of party politics, I know that the mayors, city managers, and selectmen of the state gathered here today will fully support and do everything in their power to promote the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Registry Accommodations

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin announced on August 21 that Boston Headquarters and eight district Registry offices will be open on Saturday mornings from 9 A.M. to 12 noon, beginning on September 12, to accommodate drivers who wish to obtain their photo licenses. No other business will be conducted. They are:

Boston Headquarters, Brockton, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn, New Bedford, Pittsfield, Springfield, and Worcester.

The Registrar said that, since the Massachusetts license system requires the personal appearance of an applicant for an eye screening and a photograph, this special service has become even more valuable to drivers who find it difficult to appear on regular working days.

The Saturday openings were inaugurated by Registrar McLaughlin in 1965 and each year remain open from the Saturday after Labor Day through the month of May. No other state agency provides such Saturday services,

Adequate Fuel Supply Sought by Mayor

Mayor Kevin White said on August 18 that the Nixon administration should act immediately to liberalize oil import quotas.

He said that liberalized quotas are necessary to assure an adequate supply of home heating fuel and to assure a supply of low sulfur fuel to combat air pollution.

Mayor White made his statement in response to the Nixon administration's announcement that it will continue its present policy on oil imports. The Mayor's statement follows:

"The decision to stick with a rigid quota system rather than adopting a tariff system is a severe blow to New England.

"Prices for 'number two' home heating fuel already are higher in the northeast than in any other part of the country. We are faced with constant shortages of heating fuel.

"The decision does nothing to eliminate the possibility of an oil shortage in New England this winter.

"It does nothing to assure an adequate supply of low sulfur fuel that we need to combat air pollution.

"The decision is a double disservice.

"At the very least, the administration should act immediately to liberalize import quotas. And the administration should reconsider its decision in detail so that the American consumer eventually can benefit from a new national policy on oil imports."

VII. HIGH COMMENDATIONS

At 1:45 A.M., July 5, 1970, the department responded to an alarm from Box 1597 for a fire in the building at 121 St. Stephen street, Boston.

Upon arrival of Engine Company 37, fire was showing at all front cellar windows, and heavy smoke was issuing from the front doorway and windows in the upper floors. Fire Capt. George E. Thompson immediately ran a line of 2½-inch hose and operated on the fire through the cellar windows. With the aid of Fire Fighter Arthur G. Ainsworth of Engine Company 37, he started a second line to the front entrance and up the vestibule stairs to the first floor.

In the first floor hallway they heard cries for help, and Fire Capt. Thompson and Fire Fighter Ainsworth dropped to the floor of the hallway and crawled through the heavy smoke and heat toward a point from which moaning sounds were emanating. Fire Fighter Ainsworth searched the area and discovered a woman partially unconscious and carried her to the front entrance and to the street.

While crawling through the first floor hallway with Fire Fighter Ainsworth, Fire Capt. Thompson heard another cry for help near the stairway. Ascending the stairway, he found another woman on the landing who was partially overcome. He carried her down the stairway, through the hallway, and to the street.

The foregoing rescue work was performed before the building had been adequately ventilated and without the aid of breathing apparatus, subjecting both members to intense heat, smoke, and gases, as well as extreme exertion.

Because both Fire Capt. Thompson and Fire Fighter Ainsworth in all probability saved the lives of these women, at great personal risk to themselves and without regard for their own safety, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend them highly, and their cases are referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 62

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1970

No. 36

Mayor Sanctions Teachers' Pay Increases

Mayor Kevin White declared on August 31 that he will not accept in their entirety either the salary increases proposed for School Department administrators or the wage-and-benefit package proposed for the city's teachers.

"Both salary packages are simply way out of line with what the Boston taxpayer can afford, and the salaries themselves in many cases are out of line with the rest of this area's economy," Mayor White said.

"Therefore I recommend that the increases voted for school administrators be sliced in half on an across-the-board basis, so that each official will receive half of what he was voted by the School Committee.

"One simple fact will point up the inflationary excessiveness of these raises. Superintendent Ohrenberger would receive a salary higher than either the Mayor's or the Governor's, and, while Mr. Ohrenberger is an extremely able administrator, such a salary on the face of it is unjustified. Other raises are equally inflationary — on a descending scale — and must be checked."

As for the teachers, Mayor White said he would fund the recommended salary schedule, thus making Boston's teachers the highest paid in Massachusetts. He also approved funds for specific improvements that were requested by the teachers and specified by the arbitrator who negotiated a settlement.

Mayor White also said he would approve the "career incentive" award to teachers after twenty-five years of service.

However, he said he has rejected three requests in the arbitrator's package because they are too costly and cannot be justified in a salary package that is already the most expensive in Boston's history. The three rejected items are:

1. Payment of $200 to every teacher in lieu of a health and welfare fund, which is to be above the salary increases.

"The generous salary increases must be construed to contain this money already," Mayor White said.

2. Severance pay — or payments for unused sick leave at time of retirement.

"There are 15,000 city employees who do not receive this benefit, and to give it to one group is discriminatory," Mayor White said.

3. $1.2 million for additional but unspecified educational improvements.

Mayor White also said he would use the salary funds not used during the teachers' strike last spring to help pay for the higher salaries.

"The money withheld from the teachers' package totals $2.6 million and will better enable us to balance our school budget," Mayor White said. "I hope the teachers will understand this and accept it."

Boston's teachers now become the highest paid in Massachusetts and will reach their maximums quicker than teachers do anywhere else.

A teacher with a bachelor's degree will now start at $7,600 and receive $12,900 in nine steps (eight years).

By comparison, the same teacher in Newton receives $7,450 to $12,525 in twelve years; in Brookline, $7,500 to $12,750 in twelve years; and in Lexington, $7,400 to $11,900 in twelve years.

"Boston's teachers will start at a higher salary, receive a higher maximum, and reach that maximum several years ahead of their suburban counterparts," Mayor White said. "This is the price for quality education — but we cannot and will not pay one cent more than is absolutely necessary."

Mayor Supports Voting Age At Nineteen

Mayor Kevin White today expressed his continued support for the state constitutional amendment designed to lower the Massachusetts voting age to nineteen. This measure appears on the ballot for approval by the voters on November 3.

The Mayor noted that the recently passed Federal Voting Rights Act lowers the voting age in all elections to eighteen. He emphasized, however, that this law is being challenged by several states, and that "we must face the very real possibility that the United States Supreme Court will rule it unconstitutional. In this case, we want to make sure that our voting age in Massachusetts has already been lowered constitutionally."

Stressing that "nineteen is better than twenty-one," Mayor White

Voting . . .

urged all voters to take the time to read the ballot questions and vote "yes" on this amendment. "It would be tragic," he said, "if complacency over the federal law put us in the position of not benefiting from either reduction."

Nine Hub Projects Inaugurated

Mayor Kevin White inaugurated nine projects in seven Boston neighborhoods on Tuesday, August 25.

In South Boston the Mayor broke ground for construction of the first school to be built there in thirty-four years. He then dedicated the first phase of the Tringales Waterfront Recreational Park in East Boston, which was built in one week.

Five Charlestown teen-agers received the keys to the Engine 32 Fire Station in Charlestown from Mayor White to provide Charlestown's young people with a teen-age center. At the Charlestown Housing Project the Mayor announced that construction will begin in the fall on a new $175,000 recreational hall for local residents.

Mayor White also announced that recreational halls will be built at the Archdale Housing Project in Roslindale and at the Gallivan Housing Project in Mattapan beginning in the fall.

The Mayor also opened the newly completed $40,000 field house at the Thomas J. Hynes Playground in West Roxbury, throwing up the tap-off ball for a local basketball game and awarding a trophy to the West Roxbury Parkway Little League Champs.

In the last two stops of the day the Mayor switched on new lights for tennis courts and basketball courts, first at the Savin Hill Playground and then at the Walsh Playground in Codman Square. Both playgrounds are in Dorchester.

Golf Tournament

Boston Parks and Recreation Commissioner Joseph E. Curtis and Robert Keating of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Company, have announced that the new Schaefer Golf Classic Qualifying Rounds will be held during the entire week of September 14-20 at the George Wright Course in Hyde Park and the William F. Devine Links at Franklin Park.

Tournament Director Bill Taylor, the pro at George Wright, said, "The tournament will be city-wide, free to all entrants eighteen years of age and older who either live or work in Boston. Over $1,400 in golf merchandise prizes will be awarded to the finalists."

Competition will be in four Flights: Championship Flight, Class A, Class B, and a Senior Class (fifty years and older). All Flights will be restricted to handicap players.

The finals will be played on Saturday, September 26, and Sunday, September 27, at the George Wright Course, with 128 contestants participating in the four Championship Flights.

Commissioner Curtis said this added attraction by the Schaefer Circle of Sports is a pleasant expansion to the Park Department's extensive outdoor recreation program.

Beatitudes for Friends of the Aged

Blessed are they who understand my faltering step and palsied hand.

Blessed are they who know that my ears today must strain to catch the things they say.

Blessed are they who seem to know that my eyes are dim and my wits are slow.

Blessed are they who look away when coffee spilled at the table today.

Blessed are they with a cheery smile who stop to chat for a little while.

Blessed are they who never say "You've told that story twice today."

Blessed are they who know the ways to bring back memories of yesterdays.

Blessed are they who make it known that I'm loved, respected, and not alone.

Blessed are they who know I'm at a loss to find the strength to carry the cross.

Blessed are they who ease the days on my journey home in loving ways.

Chinatown Celebrates August Moon Festival

Mayor Kevin White lit Chinatown's first pagoda-shaped lamp on Hudson Street on August 30, during Boston's first annual August Moon Festival.

The lamp was the first of more than eighty-five that will be installed throughout the Chinese community in the next few weeks by the city's Department of Public Facilities.

The installation of the lights is part of the renovations that have been completed in Chinatown in the last year and a half, such as pagoda-shaped phone booths and bilingual street signs.

The Chinese community presented the Mayor with a Chinese "Moon Cake," a traditional August Moon pastry, during the ceremonies on Harrison Avenue.

The August Moon Festival was sponsored jointly by the Chinese community and Summerthing. It was a daylong festival, consisting of twenty-one events around Chinatown and visits from Summerthing mobile units.

The events included dance groups, a fashion show, rock concerts, a block dance, a Chinese movie, and a parade of lanterns made by the children.

A volleyball tournament between four local teams took place during the afternoon, and the champions received an engraved trophy from Mayor White.

According to John Huang, Summerthing coordinator for the day's activities, the festival is a summer-time event that is held to honor the moon, which is especially bright at this time of year.

"The August Moon Festival is a very gay festivity in comparison with the Chinese New Year's celebration and is especially geared to the young people of the community," Huang said.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

CONSTRUCTION OF PARKING GARAGE IN NORTH STATION AREA

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Public Facilities Commission has authorized me, in its name and on its behalf, to respectfully request your Honor's written permission to dispense with the public solicitations for proposals by advertisement published in the City Record and to award a contract to Desmond & Lord, Inc., Architects and Engineers, 6 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., to prepare schematic designs, design development, and preliminary construction cost estimates for use in the construction of a parking garage in the North Station area of the City of Boston, at a fee not to exceed $84,973, including supplementary services not to exceed $17,500, and, upon receipt of such authority, execute said contract in the name and on behalf of the Commission.

At a subsequent time, it is intended that a second contract is to be awarded following upon your Honor's approval at that time, including preparation of the working drawings, detailed specifications, and the supervision of the actual construction. The fee for the anticipated second contract would be derived from the A.I.A. 1967 recommended schedule of minimum "A" rates, as calculated and based upon the construction cost estimate, less $67,473 of the fee which would be paid under this proposed contract with the aforementioned firm of architects.

The subject services are of a highly special and unique character, and for these reasons it is felt that a public solicitation for bids for these services would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully,

ROBERT T. KENNEY,
Director.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

CONSULTANT FIRM TO SUPPLEMENT ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING SECTION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Approximately six years ago this department decided that city-owned street lighting would not only result in substantial yearly savings, but it also would allow us much better flexibility in coming up with the variety of street lighting that present-day design requires.

Our experience to date in bringing about these changes has justified our decision, but it clearly indicates that we must expand our lighting personnel. This is particularly necessary for that part of street lighting which deals with design, layouts, and preparation of plans and specifications. Without this type of detail we cannot complete any of our various programs involving chapter 90 and both normal or special street and sidewalk projects.

Because it takes considerable time to acquire and train specialized personnel for expanding our electrical engineering section, I feel that it is most necessary to bridge this time-gap by hiring a consultant firm to provide the services listed above. Fortunately, the electrical engineering firm of Goodall Shapiro Associates, Inc., appears to fit our requirements closely because of their direct association with the city, the state, and the Boston Edison Company, as evidenced by their street lighting work for several miles of Route 2 and in several urban renewal areas. Also, they know our procedures and are equipped with the personnel to take on this interim assignment as soon as directed.

Therefore your Honor's permission is requested to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to the electrical engineering consultant firm of Goodall Shapiro Associates, Inc., 100 Boylston street, Boston, Mass., to prepare the necessary design studies, layouts, plans and details, specifications, and contract items when and as required for street lights needed for our various programs and to coordinate their work with the requirements of this and other city departments along with those of any other public or private agency affected, all for a sum not to exceed $40,000, and for a period not to exceed one year from the award date.

Payment for such services would be at their established billing rates for various grades of technical personnel, with the provision that the monthly billing under rates per hour would not exceed their direct payroll for said personnel multiplied by a 2.30 factor. In addition, items such as reproductions or any necessary related supplementary services performed by companies engaged by the consultant will be paid for directly as "out-of-pocket" expenses.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH F. CASAZZA,
Commissioner of Public Works.

MR. DUNCAN T. FOLEY,

DEAR MR. FOLEY:

I am directing this communication to you as Director of Personnel of the City of Boston to bring to your attention reasons which I feel are adequate to allow prior creditable service to a court officer attached to the West Roxbury District Court, namely, David L. Fleming, Jr.

Secondly, he served as a guard at the Deer Island House of Correction for two years, again serving in a position of security within the institution.

All proposals must be from bidders of record on file at Room 714, City Hall. There will be a charge of two dollars ($2), NOT REFUNDABLE, for each set of contract documents taken out. If the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract, shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which schedule is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. ATTENTION IS CALLED TO CHAPTER 370 OF THE ACTS OF 1963, WHICH MUST BE STRICTLY COMPLIED WITH. The Commissioner reserves the right to reject any and all proposals or any item or items of the proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 62

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1970

NO. 37

City Files Suit Against Mass. Port Authority

Mayor Kevin White has announced that the city filed suit September 9, against the Massachusetts Port Authority and nineteen airlines for $10.2 million, part of which will be used to soundproof fifteen schools in East Boston.

"According to an independent study done for the city," Mayor White said, "teachers at the fifteen schools must interrupt their lessons once every six minutes because of noise from air traffic. This is obviously a serious impairment to the educational experience of the 6,640 youngsters attending these schools.

"I am not against progressive and convenient airplane transportation," the Mayor said, "but if airlines must fly over residential areas it is their responsibility to make adequate provisions to compensate for the disturbances."

If successful, the suit would set a precedent affecting the location of a second major airport in Massachusetts, according to the Mayor.

"The Port Authority would be required to locate any second airport in an area where noise would not adversely affect the adjoining neighborhoods or else be prepared to provide adequate soundproofing for all buildings in the area," Mayor White said.

The cost of soundproofing the fifteen East Boston schools is $4.5 million. The remaining $5.7 million, Mayor White said, would reimburse the city for:

The taking of air rights over city property without compensation.

The depreciation of the value of the schools and the land on which they are built.

The limiting of further use of the land.

The rendering unfit for educational purposes of the schools in their present state.

The study, made for the city's Public Facilities Department by the Cambridge acoustical engineering firm of Bolt, Beranek and Newman, recommended the total soundproofing of all fifteen schools, including installation of several new walls, double-glazing of all windows, and reduction of total window space. The study notes that windows would be sealed and inoperable, requiring the installation of complete air-conditioning systems.

The fifteen schools involved are East Boston High School, Philip H. Sheridan School, Chapman School, Hugh Roe O'Donnell School, Joseph H. Barnes School, Patrick J. Kennedy School, James Otis School, Theodore Lyman School, Dante Alighieri School, Daniel Webster School, Donald McKay School, Samuel Adams School, Manassah Bradley School, John Cheverus School, and Curtis Guild School.

The suit to be argued in Federal Court names the following airlines as jointly liable with the Port Authority: Air Canada, Air France, Alitalia, Allegheny, American, British Overseas Airways Corporation, Cape and Islands Airlines, Eastern Airlines, Executive Airlines, Irish International Airlines, Lufthansa German Airlines, Mohawk Airlines, National Airlines, Northeast Airlines, Pan American Airlines, Provincetown-Boston Airlines, Inc., TAP Portuguese Airways, Trans World Airlines, United Airlines.

A second study done by Bolt, Beranek and Newman for the United States Department of Transportation noted that similar disturbances were evident in areas of Dorchester and South Boston.

(The city brought suit against the United States Department of Transportation in February for the release of the study which was believed to be critical of the Port Authority. The study was released by the Transportation Department the day before the case was to be argued in Federal Court.)

"The Transportation Department report notes that unlike East Boston, the noise in Dorchester and South Boston could be alleviated by changes in flight patterns," Mayor White said.

"The study indicates that airplanes could reach an adequate altitude over the harbor before circling over the residential areas, which would cut down on noise pollution.

"The city is urging the Port Authority to make the necessary changes; otherwise, we will find it necessary to take similar legal action on behalf of these neighborhoods.

"The new University of Massachusetts complex being built at Columbia Point would also be affected by this airplane noise. If flight patterns are not altered, the cost to the state of adequately soundproofing these new buildings would be exorbitant."

L Street Bath House Renovated

The L Street Bath House, totally renovated to provide new and extensive recreational facilities for South Boston, and ultramodern classrooms for 500 students, was opened by Mayor Kevin White on September 8.

The $825,000 renovation of the forty-year-old building, done by the city's Department of Public Facilities, provides sixteen additional classrooms which will alleviate overcrowding in the Gavin School and the South Boston High School while updating the existing recreational facilities of the building for use by the entire South Boston community.

The idea of updating the recreational facilities, and remodeling part of the building for classrooms, was conceived after the city's idea to acquire part of the South Boston Army Base had to be rejected because the military facility was not available.

Plans for remodeling the 60,000-square-foot Parks and Recreation facility were jointly conceived by Public Facilities Director Robert T. Kenney and Park Commissioner Joseph E. Curtis.

The Bath House was built in 1931 on a site that has been used by the L Street Brownies, a men's club, since the turn of the century.

Registrar Urges Caution

More than a million school children are returning to Massachusetts schools this month. You'll find them along school routes crossing the street, hopping off and on buses, near playgrounds, and at play everywhere. They could dart out from between parked cars; they could suddenly leave the sidewalk and run across the street. The chances are they won't be thinking about getting hurt.

That is why you must be cautious. You are driving the danger weapon which could harm them, and only you can control it from behind the wheel. Will you be able to STOP in time?

Perhaps you'll say, "Why don't parents supervise their children?" A good question. They should—that is their responsibility. But, once they are in your path, the responsibility to protect them becomes yours. Please accept it! You may save the life of a child. Wouldn't that be a good feeling?

Boston Children's Theatre

The Boston Children's Theatre goes on tour this fall! From November 21 to mid-May the touring company will be available weekends and during school vacations to bring the magic of live theatre to the schools, churches, scout groups, etc., in the area.

The sponsoring agency will provide a location with a stage, minimum lighting, and an electrical outlet for the sound system. The theatre's company, made up of children chosen from the drama classes, under adult direction, will bring sets, costumes, and props—everything needed to present an exciting and colorful performance.

Bookings are being accepted now. For information write or call the Boston Children's Theatre, 263 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02116, telephone 536-3324.

New England Aquarium Marine Industry Study

A pilot study of the present state and potential growth of New England's marine industry will soon be initiated from the New England Aquarium in Boston.

This study, cosponsored by the Aquarium's Research Department and the New England Marine Resources Information Program (NEMRIP) at the University of Rhode Island, will provide New England with a comprehensive picture of her marine industry—the various marine-related companies, their services, their markets, their problems, and their international efforts. The study of this data characterizing the companies and services involved with the marine environment will form a basis by which the regional companies can assume a much larger role in the domestic and international marine industry.

These are the major objectives outlined in the program under the direction of Mr. W. Robert Patterson of the Aquarium Research Staff. The study is designed to provide specific investigation into potential market areas of the marine industry and open new avenues for the New England companies.

Nearly 500 marine-related companies are being considered in this study. Information and statistical data will be collected by means of questionnaires and personal interviews covering their marine activities. The questionnaire, to be mailed to these companies within two weeks, is the foundation of this comprehensive study and relies greatly on their cooperation. The data will be catalogued and analyzed, providing a useful record of the companies' general products and services. This information, computer-stored at NEMRIP, University of Rhode Island, will be available to regional, national, and international marine companies. A summary report will be returned to all participating companies.

Having measured the characteristics and capabilities of the New England marine industry, the program will then survey the international markets best suited to the regional potential. This survey will serve as a guide for domestic marine-related companies and an assistance to them in reaching those foreign markets which they can service best.

Mr. Patterson, who developed the proposal for this study, is a marine consultant and naval architect, and is currently a graduate student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Industrial Management. He emphasizes that the fullest cooperation of New England's marine companies is essential for the success of the study. For further information on this program, please contact Mr. Patterson or Mr. Guy McLeod, Director of Research, at the New England Aquarium, telephone Area 617-742-8830.

V. HIGH COMMENDATION

On July 24, 1970, at about 1:25 A.M., the department responded on a still alarm to the premises at 42 Hanson Street, South End. Upon arrival at the scene, Fire Capt. Robert E. Regan, who was Acting District Fire Chief of District 4, ordered Fire Lt. Coleman Wallace of Engine Company 22 to investigate the premises for fire. Fire Lieutenant Wallace returned to the street within a few minutes and informed the Acting Chief that there was a woman on the roof threatening to jump to the street from the four-story building.

Fire Lieutenant Wallace returned to the roof with Fire Fighter George F. McCafferty of Engine Company 22 and attempted to placate the woman who appeared distraught. The woman backed to the edge of the roof, placed her feet just over the gutter, and held on to boards of a sign above her head. Fire Fighter McCafferty inched his way to within a few feet of her, which was close to the edge of the roof. With complete disregard for his own safety, and before any ladders or nets had been placed in position, he lunged forward and wrapped his arms around the woman, holding her fast while barely maintaining his balance on the edge of the roof. He then inched his way back to safety with the woman in his arms.

Because of the fact that Fire Fighter McCafferty risked his life in performing the rescue work and apparently saved the woman's life, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

VI. COMMENDATIONS

1. Fire Fighter John F. Repta of Ladder Company 15 is hereby commended for resuscitating a three-year old girl at 29 Easton Street, Brighton, at about 8:12 P.M., August 13, 1970.

Before the arrival of District Fire Chief William Pineo of District 11, and Ladder Company 14, Fire Fighter Repta, who lives nearby and who was off duty at the time, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the child and had, in the process, removed a large blockage of food from the child's throat. The inhalator was then used effectively in reviving the girl.

It appears that the quick action of Fire Fighter Repta probably saved the child's life.

2. On arrival at Box 1552, which was struck at 6:33 A.M., June 27, 1970, it was found that the entire exterior side wall of the four-story building at 36 Braddock Park had collapsed, hurling two of the occupants of upper floors, along with the debris, to the ground below.

Roof, interior walls, and floors were hanging precariously and in serious danger of a second collapse, but, without hesitation and with complete disregard for their safety, the members of Engine Company 22 and Ladder Company 13 entered the debris and removed two female victims to safety. One male occupant was still trapped on the third floor. Members of Aerial Tower 1 raised the tower, extended the bucket to the third floor, which was hanging at a dangerous angle, and removed the man. These operations were carried out under extremely hazardous conditions.

The Fire Commissioner and Chief of Department are pleased to commend the officers and members of Engine Company 22, Ladder Company 13, and Aerial Tower 1 for their courageous action and dedication to duty carried out in the highest traditions of the Boston Fire Department.

3. Fire Fighter Arthur L. Mulrey of Ladder Company 15 is hereby commended for responding to and working at fire, Box 286, on August 29, 1970, while he was off duty.

Twenty Youth Projects Developed by YAC

Mayor Kevin H. White announced on August 10 that the development of twenty youth projects in Boston neighborhoods has been completed by the city's Youth Activities Commission.

The opening of a hockey rink on West Street, Hyde Park, marks a first in the city's history, a response to the growing interest in ice hockey and its summer counterpart in the last several years.

Two hundred youth were hired by the Commission and Action for Boston Community Development, Inc. (ABCD), with a $96,000 Youth Education and Recreation Grant from the United States Department of Labor. The teen-agers developed and planned their own recreation projects in conjunction with neighborhood agencies and the Commission.

The youth, aged fourteen to twenty-one, have provided their neighborhoods with new grass play areas, newly painted playgrounds and equipment, activity and teen-age centers, street hockey rinks, basket-ball courts, and go-cart tracks. The completion of these projects provides youngsters throughout Boston with many additional recreation facilities in areas where playground facilities are at a premium.

The projects' goals are (1) to provide additional recreational facilities for youngsters; (2) to provide a work experience for youth in need of summer jobs; and (3) to provide recreational activities utilizing employed older youth supervising youngsters between the ages of six and thirteen. According to David Morse, Youth Activities Commission Deputy Director and Project Director, "One of the most important objectives of this program was to give youngsters something to do during the summer months. Many of them would not have recreational opportunities were it not for this type of program, which provides transportation to outlying recreational sites such as Canobie Lake Park in New Hampshire, Paragon Park in Nantasket, and many of the great museums that exist within and outside the city.

"Over 1,000 youngsters also went to Red Sox baseball games during the project period. We hoped that the older brothers would be taking care of younger brothers and sisters during these recreational activities; and for the most part, despite the short term of the project itself, this became a reality."

It's Sticker Time

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin reminds motor vehicle owners and operators that compulsory inspection began September 1 and will run through October 15.

Vehicles passing inspection will be issued a yellow rectangular inspection sticker. Vehicles not passing inspection will be issued a white circular inspection sticker with a red rejection band. Necessary work may be performed on a rejected car at any garage or repair shop. No additional fee is required for reinspection if vehicle is returned to the official station which issued the rejection sticker. Rejected vehicles will not be allowed on the highways after October 15.

It is advisable to have necessary repairs made now and to submit the vehicle for inspection during the beginning of the inspection period. It is anticipated that many older vehicles will cause a temporary shortage of replacement suspension, exhaust system, and lighting components on certain model vehicles, and that repair facilities will be overburdened during inspection period.

Dr. Sidney Farber Retires

Sidney Farber, M.D., of Cambridge, whose concern for more than three decades has been the care of children with cancer and research in the field of the chemotherapy of cancer, retired from Harvard University on September 1, 1970, to become the S. Burt Wolbach Professor of Pathology, Emeritus.

Dr. Farber's retirement, after forty-one years as a member of the staff and Faculty of Medicine, is announced by Robert H. Ebert, M.D., Dean of the Harvard Medical School.

Major Improvements Set for Twenty-five Playgrounds

Mayor Kevin White announced plans on September 9 to make major improvements at twenty-five playgrounds and parks throughout Boston as part of a $1.55 million 1971 Parks and Recreation Department program.

He designated several small parks which will be completely redone and close to twenty sites for major additions of play equipment. Specific plans for each site will be coordinated with community residents and Parks and Recreation Department staff, working through the Little City Halls and the local advisory councils.

"This program is another step in our continuing effort to restore park and recreation facilities to their full use," the Mayor said. "For too many years the city's parks and playgrounds did not get the attention they deserved. During the past two and a half years we have tried to halt the deterioration and rebuild and restore the neighborhood parks."

He said that reconstruction work has already been completed on over sixty play areas throughout the city. "I am happy to announce that this effort will continue next year in all of Boston's neighborhoods."

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Joseph Curtis said that his department will work closely with each community to fit park plans to neighborhood needs. The placement and type of play equipment will be worked out at meetings arranged through the Little City Hall managers. He said that this work is an addition to the already scheduled recreational floodlighting work at twenty-eight locations and the federally funded urban beautification projects.

Mayor White said, "I believe that the Parks and Recreation Department must work closely with the Local Advisory Councils and Little City Halls on the 1971 program. It is important that the voice of citizens be heard in planning parks and playgrounds which they and their children will use."

Clarence "Jeep" Jones, Youth Activities Commission Director, cited the cooperation of various city agencies as being crucial to the success of these projects. "It also was the first time to my knowledge that ABCD, the city's Community Action Agency, has subcontracted to the city to provide services. This type of working arrangement should provide for more and better youth programs in the future."

NO. 39

Mayor Seeks Economic Development Corporation

Mayor Kevin White has announced that he will submit to the City Council, on September 28, a home rule petition to create a quasi-public Economic Development and Industrial Corporation to attract new jobs and new industry to Boston.

The Mayor said the five-point goal of the corporation will be to:

Increase the number of white- and blue-collar jobs in Boston.

Increase the number and upgrade the quality of the city's industrial firms.

Increase the city's tax revenues.

Encourage full utilization of land which is now vacant or underutilized.

Improve the overall business climate in the shortest possible time.

"As a candidate for Governor, I have announced plans to find state-wide solutions to the critical problem of unemployment in Massachusetts. Now, as Mayor of Boston, I am announcing plans to maintain a healthy economy in the city," Mayor White said.

"Boston's present 4.9 percent unemployment rate is the lowest of any major metropolitan area in the state, and we intend to do everything possible to keep it that way, and reduce it even further. In the past two years in Boston we have created more than 20,000 new construction jobs alone. This new corporation will continue this healthy economic growth and assure that Boston does not meet the same fate as the other major metropolitan areas in Massachusetts."

The corporation would have power of eminent domain over industrial areas and the authority to buy, sell, lease, and develop land for industrial uses.

"It will make Boston more competitive with less expensive land and facilities in the suburbs through its ability to buy land at market value and write down the cost before selling to industry or through offering long-term leases," the Mayor said.

He also said that Boston has sufficient land available for industrial development. "There are more than 250 acres of vacant, privately owned land in the city. It is broken up into parcels ranging in size from two to more than one hundred acres which are already zoned for manufacturing and industrial uses. In addition there are numerous vacant and underutilized buildings in Boston which could be returned to productive industrial uses."

The corporation would be basically self-supporting. It would float its own bonds and be eligible for federal and state aid. The city would also be empowered to make direct appropriations to the corporations for operating, write-downs, and special program costs if the need arose, according to the Mayor. The city could also pledge its credit to the corporation's bonds with the approval of the Mayor and the City Council. This move would not increase the city's existing debt limitations, the Mayor noted.

The idea for the corporation was developed by the Boston Economic Development and Industrial Commission, chaired by George Seybolt. The corporation would take over the activities of the commission.

The Mayor said he is asking the private sector to raise the initial working capital for the corporation by purchasing between one and five million dollars in debentures.

He noted that the corporation's power of eminent domain over industrial zones would be subject to mayoral approval. Further, the corporation would not be allowed to take residential property unless it received approval from both the City Council and the Mayor. All projects would be subject to review by the city's planning agency.

The corporation's property would be exempt from property taxes, but it would make payments in lieu of taxes to the city. The formula governing these payments is similar to the 121A formula which has been used successfully by the city to encourage downtown office development.

A seven-member advisory board appointed by the Mayor and a fifteen-man business advisory board will manage the corporation.

The Mayor's home rule petition will need City Council and state legislative approval before becoming operative. Similar corporations

School Facilities Program Started

Boston has a $300 million school facilities program in planning. Twelve schools costing approximately $93 million have been started or will be in construction this year.

The Public Facilities Department, Boston's central building agency, is trying to keep private property on the tax rolls, leave homes intact, lower school construction costs and, at the same time, provide first-class school facilities.

In order to avoid taking homes and tax-paying property for school construction, the city is building a school across the middle of a street in South Boston, and planning two joint occupancy structures. One building will house a three-story elementary school and 168 apartment units for married medical students. Two air rights schools on Columbus Avenue in the South End have recently been approved for construction. A number of schools, such as the 10-story 2,000-pupil English High, are being built on recreational space adjacent to the schools they are replacing. When the new facilities are complete the students will be transferred and the old building demolished.

Existing buildings, such as a part of the underutilized L Street Bath House in South Boston, an office building in Hyde Park, a warehouse in Brighton, and a Ford dealership in Dorchester, have been or are being converted to classrooms.

Because school construction costs have skyrocketed to as high as $40 a square foot, the Public Facilities Department is experimenting with two systems-built schools this year. The schools use pre-designed, precoordinated components and are expected to bring costs down to $28 a square foot.

in other areas of the state have already received the go-ahead from the Legislature.

"Boston's corporation would be different from the others in the state because it will have the power of eminent domain over industrial property. Still, it would be required to consult with city officials before exercising the power," Mayor White explained. "This would keep the corporation responsive to the needs of the nonindustrial sector of the community and the overall needs of the area. This is unlike many quasi-public corporations such as the Port Authority which are created by the state but which act without consulting local officials or community residents."

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 62

MONDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1970

NO. 40

Mayor Urges Price Posting of Prescription Drugs

Mayor Kevin White proposed on September 29 that all pharmacies within the City of Boston be required to post a price list of the most commonly purchased prescription drugs to spark competition and permit the consumer to seek lower prices.

The Mayor said he would file the proposal with the Board of Trustees of the Department of Health and Hospitals as he unveiled the findings of the most comprehensive and detailed examination of retail drug prices ever conducted by the city or the state. The seven-month study, which included prescription drug purchases in all of the city's 223 pharmacies, was carried out by the Boston Consumers' Council, a city agency.

He noted that one drug in the study had a retail price ranging from $2.60 to $8, depending upon the store at which it was purchased.

"This proposal does not attempt price control, but rather it suggests a wide dissemination of useful price information to create a free and open market with true price competition," the Mayor said.

"If pharmacies have the right to charge different prices for products as essential as prescription drugs, then the buyers—particularly the elderly and chronically ill—have an equal right to know those differences of price.

"There has never been any comparable attempt by a city or state to undertake a major program that would provide sufficient price information to allow for intelligent buying decisions.

"Many pharmacies offer excellent services and charge low prices, and they deserve praise. There is no reason to believe that other drugstores could not offer similar services at similar prices."

Boston City Hospital was used as a source of prescriptions because City Hospital prescription forms are filled at virtually every pharmacy in the city and because hospital officials cooperated in the study. Cost of the investigation was $2,000, and the drugs purchased will be given to City Hospital.

Emphasizing the wide price variations, the Mayor said that in one South Boston drugstore the city paid $8 to fill a prescription for sixteen achromycin tablets. Directly across the street, the same prescription was filled for $3.20, and in Dorchester the sixteen capsules cost $2.75.

The study initially was undertaken to determine:

1. Whether significant differences in drug prices exist among the various areas or neighborhoods of the city.

2. Whether pharmacists discriminate in their drug-pricing policies by charging some people or groups more for their drug needs.

While noting that prescription drug prices varied widely across the city, the Consumers' Council said:

"There appears to be no relationship between prescription prices and any socioeconomic factors, including per capita income. In other words, poor neighborhoods are neither more nor less expensive than middle-income areas. The variation by neighborhood is quite random, although marked differences undeniably exist."

On the question of discrimination, the Council reported:

"... no measurable degree of discrimination exists against black purchasers of prescription drugs in pharmacies within Boston. It is assumed that if no discrimination was measured with a black control buyer, none would be measured with a member of some other social, ethnic, or nationality group used as a buyer."

The first step in the study was to purchase identical prescriptions for sixteen 250-mg. achromycin capsules. The price ranged from $2.60 to $8 for the sixteen capsules, with the mean price of the purchases being $3.87. Prices varied without regard to neighborhoods of the city, it was noted.

In order to measure potential discrimination, a second series of prescriptions was purchased by a black control buyer in fifty of the previously visited drugstores. Prices in this sample ranged from $2.55 to $7.95, with the mean retail price being $3.92. In these same pharmacies the mean for the white buyer was $3.98.

"These observed differences of prices for the same prescription in the same pharmacies cannot be explained by discrimination," the Council noted. "There is no advantage to either buyer and there is no pattern. Instead, the differences in prices in twenty-five of the forty-six pharmacies filling both prescriptions identically must be due to lack of a consistent pricing policy within most of those pharmacies."

Mayor . . .

The Council further noted:

"Because prescriptions are not commodities carrying premarked or preposted prices, pharmacists commonly set a price for each prescription at the time of each purchase, and frequently the pharmacist employs no predetermined formula or schedule for his charges so that the price on a given item would remain constant to different consumer patients."

A second, higher priced drug—serpasil—was purchased to determine:

1. Whether a higher priced drug would show a different pricing pattern.

2. Whether a long-term maintenance drug used for chronic conditions would show a different pricing pattern since it is refilled more often.

The prescription called for 100 0.25-mg. serpasil tablets, and purchases were made at fifty pharmacies. Prices ranged from $4.50 to $9.50, with the mean price being $7.17.

Advertising and other copy must, except in emergencies, be in hand at the City Record office by noon, Wednesday of each week to insure its publication in the Monday issue.

The study also concluded:

There are no significant differences between chain drugstore prices and independent pharmacies.

There is no price consistency in many drugstores. The least expensive pharmacy for one prescription will not necessarily be the least expensive for a different prescription.

The wide variation among prices for identical prescriptions is largely unrelated to variations among operating expenses or to the costs of providing other services, such as free delivery.

The hypothesis that high-volume stores could sell prescription drugs for less is rejected.

Prescription drug retail prices are unaffected by competition from other pharmacies.

No correlation exists between the retail prices of a common non-prescription item (Bayer aspirin) and the retail prices of brand-name prescription drugs.

Deviations from the prescribed number of tablets or capsules were noted in about 10 percent of all purchases, but there was no relationship between these deviations and retail prices.

Many state laws governing pharmacies were not being enforced adequately by the Department of Public Health and the Massachusetts Board of Registration in Pharmacy.

Fire Prevention Week

This year, Fire Prevention Week runs from October 4 to 10. It marks the anniversary of one of America's worst conflagrations, the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 (October 9).

Observance of the anniversary originated in 1911 when the Fire Marshals Association of North America established Fire Prevention Day. Upon recommendation of a committee of the National Fire Protection Association, the "Day" became Fire Prevention Week in 1922.

The President of the United States and the Governor-General of Canada annually proclaim Fire Prevention week, now in its forty-ninth year.

Cleaner Air Week

Dirty air, like war, is not healthy for children and other living things. Cleaner Air Week starts the last week in October.

Thousands of people—spurred on by their Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Associations as well as other groups—will put the pollution plague center stage that week. They will organize meetings, see their Congressmen, fly balloons, have polluted air contests, and create some ingenious spectacles.

Researchers have clearly established the relationship between air pollution and increased death rates, particularly among men aged fifty to sixty-nine who have a lung disease. But new evidence shows that pollution also has damaging effects on the very young.

Pollution affects millions of people at all ages.

People of all ages will participate in Cleaner Air Week. Anyone—including you—can join the group. Call your local Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association about the coming events.

Three Named to
Key Posts at BCH

Three assistant deputy commissioners-area administrators have been appointed, announced Boston City Hospital Director John S. Gracey.

The positions of area administrators were established recently to decentralize hospital administration and bring top-level management into close and continuous contact with all levels of the hospital. Under this administrative reorganization the hospital was subdivided into three major areas, each headed by an area administrator.

Assistant deputy commissioner-area administrator for the Surgical Building, the Maternity Building, and the Radiology Department is Mr. Frederick R. Boss.

A graduate of Morris Harvey College, Boss, twenty-seven, has done further studies in health administration at Northeastern University.

Prior to coming to BCH, he was an administrator for Beverly Hospital. Boss also has an extensive background in personnel, having served as an administrative specialist in the United States Air Force and as assistant manager for Taylor Personnel in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Mr. David P. Rioux has assumed his new duties as top administrator of three major areas within BCH: the Medical Building, the Peabody Building, and the Biochemistry Laboratory.

Formerly assistant project coordinator, Massachusetts Health Facility Foundation for Education and Research, Mr. Rioux, twenty-nine, comes to his new position with a great deal of experience in health care administration. Most recently he was associated with Thera-Care, Inc., serving as administrator of the Haverhill and Hilltop Manor Nursing Homes, and coordinator for the Bel-Air and Bowdoin Nursing Homes.

A cum laude graduate of Oblate College and Seminary, he received a master's degree in rehabilitation administration from Northeastern University in 1968.

at Gulf Oil property adjacent to the gas storage tank off Victory Road in Dorchester, noticed a man on top of the tank who gave indication that he was about to jump from the tank.

Fire Fighter Shaw notified the Fire Alarm Office and the Police Department, and then ascended the long stairway on the outside of the tank to a point near the man. When the opportunity presented itself, he made a lunge for the man and pinned him against the guard rail of the catwalk. As soon as conditions allowed, he called for assistance from Fire Lieutenant Frank J. Piazza and two patrolmen of Division 11 who were awaiting the opportunity to close in and assist in the rescue.

The Fire Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Fighter Shaw for his quick thinking, prompt action, and disregard for his own safety in performing the rescue work.

Model City Summer Youth Program Successful

More than 2,000 Model Neighborhood youth participated in Model City activities this past summer which ranged from camping to recreation to work programs.

"We at the Model City Administration and Model Neighborhood Board were very concerned about what the youth would do this summer when school was out," said Paul Parks, Model City Administrator.

"But we were particularly concerned that whatever activities were organized would be rewarding educationally as well as financially," he added.

Some 200 youths, ages seven to sixteen, participated in the Youth Tutoring Youth project, which involved the teaching of math and reading. Teen-agers, thirteen to sixteen, were paid to tutor younger children, ages seven to twelve, twenty-five hours a week for a ten-week period. The program was unique in that both the teachers and learners were youths, many of them underachievers, and that it was a learning experience for both.

Another 140 youths participated in "Operation Exposure," a project aimed at improving the policeman's image by having youth and police participate together in physical and cultural activities.

The activities ran from 8:30 A.M. to 5 P.M. weekdays and were geared to physical fitness, with instruction offered in softball, football, tennis, swimming, basketball, track, field, and karate. Cultural trips were also taken, and a special air flight training offered in which thirty youths earned nine hours actual flight time from schools in Norwood and Marshfield.

Two hundred youths, ages fourteen to fifteen, were placed in summer jobs by the Administration and Board in various community agencies. The jobs varied, but many involved working in recreational programs and arts and crafts programs.

Another 300 youths, ages fourteen to sixteen, were placed in camping programs with funds from the Model City program. They attended week and day camps throughout New England.

Sixty youths, ages fourteen to nineteen, were hired by the Model City Administration to work on crews to help residents clean up their properties. The crews collected bulky items, litter and trash, from front and back yards, which was then picked up and hauled away by local truckers.

More than 1,000 more participated in a summer-long recreation program for youth of all ages. Instruction and competitive events were offered weekdays to about 400 boys and girls in track and field, gymnastics and swimming. Plans are being made to extend this sports program into the winter, adding football and basketball and expanding participation.

A tot-lot program provided supervision and special programs for about 600 preschool-age children. Neighborhood mothers were hired to work in the program.

The Elma Lewis School of Performing Arts ran a cultural program for Model Cities which concentrated on teaching costuming, music, drama, and other fine arts.

A special program for the Spanish-speaking was run, which included softball games, arts and crafts, trips, swimming, parades, and special festivals and events.

All the projects were financed in part by a grant from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development under the Demonstration Cities Act of 1966. They were jointly planned by the Model Neighborhood Board and the Model City Administration.

Senior Aides Conference

The National Conference of Senior Aides Project Directors was held at the Parker House October 1, 2, and 3. The City of Boston hosted the three-day gathering sponsored by the National Council of Senior Citizens. Program Director William C. Connelly welcomed the delegates, and Commissioner Joseph B. Kerrisey of the Affairs of the Elderly, representing the Mayor, extended the greetings of the city.

The purpose of this seminar was to provide a means for analysis of, and to effect proposals for the continued development of, the Senior Aides program.

Mayor Submits Legislation to Expand Rent Control

On October 5, 1970, Mayor Kevin White submitted to the City Council legislation which would strengthen and expand the city's 11-month-old rent control law.

"However, it has fallen short of our expectations of curbing excessive increases in the general level of rents throughout the city," he stated. "The present situation, coupled with the continuing critical shortage of housing in Boston, demands that we establish a comprehensive system of rent control that does not require a tenant to file a complaint."

The legislation filed by the Mayor would:

- extend rent control to non-owner-occupied three-family dwellings. One-, two-, and owner-occupied three-family dwellings would remain exempt, as would "luxury" housing (luxury housing: $160, studio; $185, one bedroom; $235, two bedrooms; $285, three bedrooms);

- establish as the maximum rent the rent in effect on December 1, 1968 (no increase in maximum rent would be permitted without prior approval of the Board);

- authorize the Board to adjust maximum rents on a general basis, by regulation applicable to a class of housing (e.g., all nonowner-occupied three-family houses) as well as on an individual basis by order;

- substitute for the present "maximum rent formula" a "fair net operating income" formula;

- require landlords to register their rents with the Board within thirty days of passage of the legislation;

- require landlords to obtain from the Board a certificate of eviction prior to evicting a tenant;

- set maximum penalties for violations of the law: $500 fine and ninety days' imprisonment for the first violation and $3,000 fine and one year's imprisonment for second and subsequent violations.

White noted the city had the option of accepting the recently enacted state rent control law but chose instead to expand and strengthen its own law. Boston's rent control program was the first in the state.

"Both the new state law and the city's proposed program, which has been authorized by the Legislature under a home rule petition are similar in most major respects but with one difference," the Mayor noted. "Very little latitude is allowed for modification of the state law to suit local conditions and changing circumstances. Essentially, the state legislation must either be accepted or rejected in its entirety and cannot be modified."

"The home rule legislation allows the city greater latitude in adapting rent control to meet local conditions," he added.

White, however, left the final decision in the hands of the City Council, noting:

"The difference between the two systems is not very great, and—in view of the pressing need for comprehensive rent control—I urge you to adopt one system or the other immediately."

DARE Sponsors Bike Day

Bike Day, to be held on October 18, 1970, will provide opportunity for persons to join with other citizens of the Commonwealth and ride bicycles from towns and cities into Boston Common, where we will all meet at 12 noon. DARE has arranged with the City of Boston to have Commonwealth Avenue from Massachusetts Avenue to the Common closed to automobile traffic. We have also arranged for parade permits for the access routes.

Bring a lunch and a frisbee for food and fun.

Bike Day is being organized to demonstrate that one alternative to the automobile, bicycles, is a fun, pollution-free way to get where you are going. DARE is planning, in cooperation with the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, to make Bike Day one event in a growing number of new ways in which persons will be able to participate creatively within our environment.

City of Boston Employees Campaign

Simultaneously with the start of the 1970 United Fund Drive, the City of Boston Employees Campaign began with a reception on Monday, September 28, in Mayor White's Office. The goal of this year's drive is $40,000, and October 22 has been set as the target date for its completion.

The campaign has a different name from the United Fund because it raises funds for ten national health organizations as well as the United Fund and the 341 agencies which it supports. As a result of this combination only one solicitation has been made among municipal employees for the past two years, instead of the repeated requests of the past.

New this year is the possibility of weekly payroll deductions in a minimum amount of 25 cents and no maximum limit. In this way it should be possible for every employee to give his fair share—the equivalent of one hour's pay per month.

Corporation Counsel Herbert P. Gleason is chairman of this year's campaign and John Stephans, Commissioner of Veterans Services, is vice chairman. The campaign is divided in four divisions.

Recreation Program Started

Recreation Director George Taylor has announced that the expanded Boston Parks and Recreation Department 1970-71 Indoor Recreation Program has officially opened city-wide.

The Hub's fourteen recreation centers will be open daily from 9 A.M. to 10 P.M., Monday through Saturday, offering a highly imaginative athletic and recreation program for young and old alike.

Highlighting the morning activities will be the "Tiny Tot Play Program" for youngsters three to five years of age, followed by the popular Golden Age Program for our senior citizens.

Hub Hosts Municipal Attorneys Conference

The City of Boston will host more than 500 municipal attorneys from all parts of the United States and Canada at City Hall for the thirty-fifth annual conference of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers.

During the four-day meeting, October 11-14, city attorneys and other municipal officials will explore in depth the many problems affecting cities today. Workshop sessions are scheduled on such subjects as civil disorders; municipal labor relations; student disorders; solid waste disposal; noise pollution; parade permits; sanitation strikes; disorderly conduct ordinances; bond issues; the legality of the 1970 census; regulation of CATV; and other important municipal subjects.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers is owned by municipalities and operated by attorneys of member municipalities. It maintains files on municipal legal experience to which municipal attorneys may turn for solving problems never before encountered. The Institute has its headquarters in Washington, D.C., and has a full-time legal staff to conduct its functions, which include the operation and management of its library and files, the editing of publications, and the handling of all requests for assistance from member municipalities.

Afternoon and evening programs for Boston residents include swimming, water-safety program, archery, special music programs, dance and grooming classes, art and drama, arts and craft instruction, cooking classes, and special classes for handicapped and exceptional children.

Competitive sports will include boxing, karate, basketball, volleyball, and track. There will be instructional classes in all sports leading to league play—also individual instruction in all forms of gymnastic activities.

All activities are supervised and directed by qualified Boston Parks and Recreation staff members.

Mayor Urges Sargent to Act on ABCD Funds

The following telegram was sent from the Mayor's Office on October eighth:

Governor Francis Sargent,
State House, Boston.

The present crisis in refunding the concentrated employment program conducted by ABCD is not a problem of inability of the federal government to find funds—it arises instead from a self imposed decision by the United States Department of Labor to cut back such funds on the ground that CEP programs are not successful. This thesis, imposed nationwide and possibly correct nationwide, is what is wrong with federal programs when local situations are not taken into consideration. You should insist that the Republican Administration in Washington recognize ABCD as having one of the best CEP programs in the United States.

I therefore call upon you to intercede at the highest levels of the federal government to obtain a renewal contract which will permit plans to proceed without the uncertainties of month-to-month band-aid funding.

KEVIN H. WHITE,
Mayor of Boston.

Final Reminder of Motor Vehicle Inspection

On October 7 Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin reminded drivers that they had only one week left in which to have motor vehicles and trailers inspected in accordance with Massachusetts compulsory inspection law.

The yellow sticker must be attached to the windshield before October 16 if the vehicle has been registered and operated at any time in the Commonwealth between September 1 and October 15.

McLaughlin pointed out that the inspection, which complies with National Highway Safety Standards, is really a safety measure and should be welcomed by all motorists, who will soon be driving their vehicles under adverse road and weather conditions.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

General Order No. 45

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

September 30.

Fire Prevention Week will be observed in the City of Boston from October 4 to October 10, 1970, inclusive. Mayor Kevin H. White has issued the following statement in connection with the observance of this week.

"The success of a fire prevention program is predicated on the activities of an experienced fire department and the co-operative assistance received from members of the community. We are fortunate in Boston that these necessary elements exist, and thus fire safety has steadily progressed. The nature of fire and fire causes is such that negligence can lead to disaster. Hence, everlasting vigilance must be maintained. The Fire Department must provide initiative to the public at all times for their greater safety from fire.

"I have noted the progress made by the Boston Fire Department in the field of research. The efforts expended in this area have been extensive and rewarding. As Mayor of this city, I am pleased to congratulate the Fire Department for their accomplishments in this respect. The results indicate that research such as this is a most important factor in future fire safety. This, added to the continuous fire prevention work, and the efficient operations of an excellent fire fighting force, contributes to make Boston a safer city."

The Boston Fire Department will again emphasize Fire Prevention Week with a series of activities as follows:

(a) Fire stations shall be open to the public between the hours of 12 noon and 8 P.M. for inspection of the premises and for the conveyance of information concerning the fire department functions and fire prevention matters. When citizens come to a station during fire prevention week, the man on house patrol shall summon the commanding officer who should be available and ready to either show the visitors around the station and to answer questions regarding the department, or to have a suitable person assigned to this duty.

(b) Canvas signs giving notice that Fire Prevention Week is in progress should be displayed from all fire stations. Most stations have these signs in their possession from exhibitions of previous years, and it is the responsibility of company officers to see to it that these signs are kept in good condition from year to year. Signs should be displayed from Sunday to Saturday. Signs shall be checked daily by the officer in charge of quarters to assure that they are firmly affixed to the building in a proper manner.

District Fire Chiefs are directed to take an active interest in fire prevention programs in the following manner:

(a) By making arrangements with the various plants and industrial enterprises within the district to hold fire drills during the week; by grading these drills as "Good," "Fair," or "Poor," and making a report of same to the Fire Prevention Division, indicating the name of the enterprise, date of drill, and the grade.

Same should be forwarded promptly. Each concern should be requested to acknowledge participation in Fire Prevention Week activities via written correspondence. These drills should be conducted by a company officer after arrangements are made. At plants where there are special or company fire brigades, particular attention should be given to assignments and/or response procedures. It is requested that the name of the company officer conducting the drill be furnished. It is anticipated that not less than three drills be conducted in each district.

(b) All public and private schools within each district shall be visited by a district chief or duly delegated company officer. School fire drills shall be held during Fire Prevention Week in all schools, both public and private. Permission should be obtained for the presentation of a five-minute talk on the subject of fire prevention — such address should not be read from a printed manuscript. Every effort should be made to speak effectively and emphatically.

The School Department in cooperation with the Fire Department is going to distribute "Home Inspection Blanks." Distribution of these blanks shall be by company officers within whose subdistricts the schools are located, and they shall be distributed during Fire Prevention Week. The teachers shall collect the completed blanks from the pupils, and in turn the company officers will collect from the various schools and return these blanks to the Fire Prevention Division with a summary of schools and total numbers collected on or before November 1. Posters for bulletin boards, two for each school, will also be distributed.

An essay contest is being conducted in all parochial and public schools in the city for the sixth grade of the grammar schools. Topic is "How I Help My Fire Department Prevent Fires." The essay is to be 150 words or less. All officers and members are requested to show an interest in this essay contest and to answer questions concerning it to any student who may request information relative to Fire Prevention in order to complete his essay.

The District Fire Chief should compile a list of fraternal, social, civic, and professional organizations within the district and advertise to them the willingness of the Fire Department to provide company officers for the purpose of lecturing on fire prevention at any time. District Fire Chiefs should make a concerted effort to bring the activities of the department before these organizations and arrange for lectures to be given. The name of any organization so participating should be reported to Fire Prevention Division, specifically if the organization can be urged to forward on their own stationery a notation of the event, it would be to the greater advantage of the Fire Department.

Fire fighters are to pay special attention to the observances of fire hazards and to the duty of observing and locating fire hazards along the route followed by them in their coming to and going from daily work. Dilapidated buildings, rubbish accumulations, and other hazards should be reported to the Fire Prevention Division. The public expects uniformed members of the department to know something about fire prevention work and to have an interest in this subject, since they are public employees engaged in this field. Fire fighters, therefore, during Fire Prevention Week should have this subject uppermost in their minds, and they should not pass by a fire hazard at any time without making a note of it for reference to the Fire Prevention Division. In short, every uniformed man in the department is a fire prevention inspector at all times.

Company commanders, upon receipt of the Governor's Proclamation on Fire Prevention and fire prevention posters, will post these items in a suitable location at the front of each fire station where they will be visible to the public. They will remain posted until October 11, 1970.

A performance bond and also a payment bond, each of a surety company satisfactory to the Commissioner and each in the sum of 100 percent of the contract price will be required of the successful contractor. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 814, City Hall. Each proposal should be filled out, signed, enclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Furnishing and Installing Traffic Signs and Posts at Various Locations in District 3, North Dorchester, of the City of Boston," one copy of which is to be left at Room 814, City Hall, before 12 noon on Friday, October 30, 1970, with a certified check for five hundred dollars ($500), payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the lump sum price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner. Before commencing performance of this contract, the Contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract, and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal or any item of a proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the equal employment opportunity section of the specifications and the obligation of the Contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.
